DuPont accepts Marine Resources permit, Port Authority pledges full cooperation

by David Pierson
Long Beach Bureau

The DuPont Company accepted the Mississippi Marine Resources Council's permit Monday in Wilmington, Delaware. The permit, which will govern the effluent discharged into the Bay of St. Louis from DuPont's proposed $125 million titanium dioxide plant, was approved last week by the council after it decided that the plant would not adversely affect the flora and fauna in the area.

According to the permit that DuPont agreed to accept, the effluent must be compatible with the normal life of the flora and the fauna, and its temperature must not exceed 95 degrees.

The permit also gives DuPont the right to dredge a three-foot trench across 40 feet of salt marsh and 1,500 feet across the bottom of the Bay of St. Louis. DuPont must report to the council on a quarterly basis the results of its biological monitoring system.

In another development, the Mississippi State Port Authority said last Thursday that it stood ready to construct a bulk storage facility to satisfy DuPont's importing and exporting needs.

The Port Authority and the executive committee of the Agriculture and Industrial (A&I) Board endorsed DuPont's plans to locate north of the Bay of St. Louis. The two agencies met in Gulfport and adopted resolutions pledging their cooperation and assistance in the project.

Vice-president of the Port Authority, Jim Reese, said that the Port Authority has already showed its "sincere desire to cooperate" by recently completing a $45,000 feasibility study on the bulk storage facility. The cost of the facility, Reese said, would run between $5-6 million. He added, however, that DuPont must agree to use the facility sufficiently enough to retire the bonds necessary to construct it with port revenues.

Rail work begins

L&N promises track repairs, declines 40 mph speed limit

by Anita Dinwiddie

A Division Engineer from the Louisville and Nashville Railroad assured the Hancock County Board of Supervisors Monday that plans were already underway for repairs of the tracks running through the county. The proposed storage facility, Reese indicated, would probably be built at the site of the pier extension at either the east or west pier.

The $5.1 million extension project, which calls for the backfilling of 6.9 acres at the end of the west pier and ten acres at the end of the east pier, will lengthen the east pier by 600 feet and the west pier by 550 feet.

The extension project, port authorities estimate, will be completed this summer or in the early fall. Reese said that the construction of the DuPont facility (if DuPont entered into the agreement) could then be completed by late 1976.

The DuPont Company has estimated that the DeLisle plant could be operational by early 1977.

The pier extension project began in September 1973, just two months before DuPont officially announced intentions to locate in the area.

When asked if the pier extension was approved to entice large companies such as DuPont into the area, Reese answered, "No, the project was done at the request of the stevedores who complained of a lack of storage area."

speciation conducted last week by the Board of Supervisors and a Railroad Inspector from the Public Service Commission, Ernest Reeves, which showed the tracks to be badly in need of repair. The present condition of the tracks is the suspected cause of the Jan. 13 derailment of an L & N train north of Ansley crossing which forced the evacuation of about 15 families because of the danger from a toxic chemical carried in an overturned tank car.

Barber told the board that the railroad had made provisions for re-timbering and re-surfacing the track section from Chef Menteur in Louisiana, to Bay bridge, a 32 mile stretch. The repair job should be completed in about five months.

"We already have a gang in Bay St. Louis unloading cross ties to begin work on the crossings," the division engineer said. "We have to get the crossing built up first before we can come through and re-timber the rest of the track. Next Monday, the timbering gang will begin on the Chef Menteur end and work their way east."

Barber said that along much of the track the foundation would have to be stripped between the ties and given new ballast. After the timbering is completed the entire track will be re-surfaced and re-lined.

The board members and the residents attending the meeting were well satisfied with L & N's plan for (Continued on Page 12-A)

After dismissals

Board acknowledges retirement violations

The issue of the dismissal of Edward Breland and Edward LeVasseur from their positions with the Hancock County Board of Education caused renewed controversy at Tuesday morning's Hancock County School Board meeting. It was revealed at the meeting that the two men, who had been hired by the school board Jan. 24, had not been fired by Superintendent K. G. McCarty, as earlier rumored, but had been dismissed by the Public Employees Retirement System, Jackson, for violation of the provisions of the state retirement laws.

The friction between Superintendent McCarty and board appointee, Ed Breland, arose at the board's Jan. 28 meeting when McCarty refused to sign minutes of a previous meeting at which Breland and LeVasseur were appointed. At that meeting the board overruled McCarty, stating that they, and not McCarty, had authority to hire the two men. The two men were subsequently notified three days later however on Jan. 31 that their positions had been terminated by the Jackson agency, an action over which the local board has no control.

Joseph Gex, school board attorney, explained that the appointment of Breland, age 66, and LeVasseur, age 73, violated the retirement laws because they are both collecting social security benefits. Persons over the age of 65, the customary retirement age, can work until age 70 if they are hired on a yearly basis in an advisory capacity. However, they may not collect retirement benefits during the period of employment Gex said.

"These men can be hired to work on specific projects at specific schools," said Gex, "but the trouble with Breland's employment was that he was hired in the same capacity that he was in before he retired and he is now collecting retirement benefits."

Board asks attorney general to uphold November at-large election

by Dan Barber

A motion, which in essence asks the U. S. attorney general to uphold the November, 1974 at-large election of Oris Ladner to the Beat One seat on the Hancock County School board, was passed unanimously Monday by Hancock County supervisors.

The motion, introduced by Beat One supervisor Jerry Ladner, asks the board's attorney Sam Favre to petition State Attorney General A. F. Summer to make a request of the U. S. attorney general to recognize the county's at-large system of voting adopted in 1968 for county school board elections.

A federal suit filed in Biloxi by a group of 10 Hancock County voters has successfully blocked Oris Ladner from taking the school board seat pending a decision by a three judge panel. The suit which names the Hancock Board of Supervisors, the Hancock County election commission, and Hancock Circuit Court Clerk Henry Otis, charges

Bay resident shoots self

A Bay St. Louis man committed suicide at approximately 5:45 p.m. Monday night at his home at 417 Thomas Street. Police said a neighbor discovered the body of Lee Lowe, 69, after hearing a shot fired.

Lowe shot himself once in the head with a .38 calibre pistol. He was pronounced dead at Hancock General Hospital at 6:15 p.m. An autopsy was conducted by Hancock Coroner Emile Piazza.

that in 1968 the county wrongfully adopted an at-large system of voting, that was in violation of a federal law because it was never approved by federal authorities.

In a related matter Monday the board agreed to recess until Feb. 10 to take up the business of hiring an attorney to represent the board in a lawsuit filed by Harlan G. Dean, a former supervisor, which seeks to have the U. S. District Court modify a judgment rendered March 2, 1970 which approved the redistricting of the supervisor's districts of Hancock County and ordered that the five supervisors run for election from their respective beats and be voted upon by the County at large.

Dean's suit asks that the supervisors be required to run for election only in their respective districts or beats.

Favre said Monday that he was unsure whether he would be able to represent the board in the Dean suit because of reasons of health.

In other business the board authorized Port and Harbor Director Wilson Webre to proceed with a proposed change order with contractors to construct a taxiway and apron southerly from the present Stennis International Airport Hangar Building in order not to lose approximately $100,000 of federal airport development funds.

The board also approved a proposal by Webre that the county install turbo-fuel facilities at the Stennis Airport to attract jet cargo aircraft. Webre said that tentative plans were to install two 20,000 gallon storage tanks south of the terminal building. The commission would use Port and Harbor funds for the project, Webre said.

In a final piece of business, Webre told the board that it may be necessary to extend the Borg-Warner Company's option to buy 205 acres of land at the Port Bienville Industrial Park for the third time, if eminent domain proceedings against International Paper which holds 200 acres of land the P&H Commission wants are not completed by Feb. 28. The board decided to hold final decision on the matter until the recess meeting of Feb. 17.

Third man sought in holdup

A third black male is still being sought by the Long Beach Police Department in connection with the armed robbery of a Long Beach Mail Mart last week.

Long Beach Investigator Ken Fell said Tuesday that two other black male subjects have been charged with the armed robbery and are being held without bond pending a preliminary hearing before Judge W. E. Dugan.

The two men arrested are Myles Wiseman, 20, of Memphis, Tennessee and Jewell Williams, 37, of North Gulfport. Wiseman was arrested at a residence in north Gulfport and Williams was arrested in Long Beach. Authorities said that approximately $100 was taken in the holdup.

Queen Doris IX

Queen Doris IX receives the key to the city from Waveland Mayor John Longo as the Krewe of Nereids celebrated their ninth annual carnival parade through the streets of Waveland Sunday. A crowd estimated at more than 12,000 lined Coleman Avenue and Beach Road to watch the colorful bands and floats pay tribute to the Jazz Age. See related pictures and story on page B-2.

DEATHS

EDWARD H. BARNEY

Funeral services for Mr. Edward H. Barney, 75, of Bay St. Louis will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday, Feb. 6, at St. Rose De Lima Church. Mr. Barney died at 1:15 a.m. Sunday at Hancock General Hospital. Interment will be in Cedar Rest Cemetery in Bay St. Louis. Arrangements were made by J. T. Hall Funeral Home.

Mr. Barney is survived by his wife, Sophronia Barney of Bay St. Louis, a son, Arthur Malone of Alliance, Ohio, and a daughter, Mrs. Debra Prescord of Kaleen, Texas.

ALCINE FRANK JOHNSTON

SFC Alcline Frank Johnston, 33, a native of Bay St. Louis and resident of Fayetteville, N.C., died Wednesday, January 29 in Fayetteville.

He was the son of R. J. Johnston, Mobile, Ala., and the late Mrs. Margie Saucier Karl of Bay St. Louis.

Survivors, in addition to his father, are his wife Mrs. Patricia Williams Johnston; a son, Harry Alcline Johnston, Fayetteville; seven brothers and two sisters.

Funeral services were held Saturday afternoon at Radney Funeral Home chapel, Mobile, under the auspices of the Baptist Church. Interment was in Mobile Memorial Cemetery with military and Masonic graveside services.

HARRY HARDIN SHATTUCK

Funeral services for Harry Hardin Shattuck, 64, who died at 4:30 a.m. January 31 in Bay St. Louis, were held at 11 a.m. Saturday at Main Street United Methodist Church with Dr. Gilbert Oliver, pastor, officiating.

Interment was in Garden of Memories Cemetery, Bay St. Louis. Pallbearers were J. W. Watts, R. L. Hamilton, Michael Haas, W. R. Allison,

Tornado victims may file claims

State Representative Earl "Buck" Ladner said Monday that Mississippians who suffered property damage during recent tornado touch-downs in the state were eligible for state funds set aside for tornado victims. Ladner said that due to the widespread and incomplete record of tornado touch-downs, the state had no way of knowing of every instance of damage unless individuals filed claims for assistance.

Any person suffering damage in the most recent rash of tornadoes, Ladner said, should file a claim with Rene deMontluzin and Fred Wagner.

Born February 1, 1910, in Beatyville, Ky., Mr. Shattuck came to Bay St. Louis in 1948 and served 25 years as general manager of Coast Electric Power Association. He retired February 1, 1973, at which time he was appointed General Manager Emeritus. During his 25 years at Coast Electric the association grew from a membership of 3500 to more than 18,000.

A 1932 graduate of Mississippi State with a degree in electrical engineering, Mr. Shattuck worked with the Mississippi Highway Department and was engaged in the appliance business for several years before accepting a position in 1940 as field engineer with the Rural Electrification Administration. He was assistant regional head in the management division when he left to assume the Coast Electric position in Bay St. Louis.

Shattuck was Mississippi Director on the National Board of National Rural Electric Cooperatives Association, the rural electric service organization for 15 years and served as secretary-treasurer, vice president and president of the Mississippi Association of Electric Power Associations. Mr. Shattuck served in the U. S. Navy during World War II and was stationed at Iwo Jima in 1945 where he was officer in charge of Radar Unit.

Active in civic affairs, he was a former president of Bay St. Louis Rotary Club; Bay St. Louis Planning Commission and Hancock County Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Shattuck was among the organizers and first president of the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission and was president of the Board of Trustees of Main Street United Methodist Church. He was appointed to the Mississippi Marine Resources Council by former Governor John Bell Williams. He was a director of the Merchants Bank and Trust Company of Gulfport and Bay St. Louis and a former commodore of Bay-Waveland Yacht Club. Survivors include his wife, Mrs. Margaret Holmes Shattuck, Bay St. Louis; two sons, Harry Hardin Shattuck Jr., Houston, Tex., and John Holmes Shattuck, Pascagoula, Miss., and a daughter, Mrs. Mary Fonville, Monroe, La.

Waveland Aldermen support gas dealers

The Waveland Board of Aldermen adopted a resolution in support of local gasoline dealers in opposition to the state sales tax on gasoline at the Tuesday, Feb. 4 meeting. Members of the board said that the state sales tax was a "tax on tax" measure and was injuring local gas dealers.

The board approved a measure to ask for bids to reactivate two existing waterwells in Waveland.

the state director of civil defense in Jackson enumerating 1) what was damaged; 2) the value of property damaged; 3) the estimated cost of repairs; and 4) how much insurance, if any, the individual has on the property.

A copy of the letter should also be sent to the Governor's office, Ladner said.

All claims will be investigated, he added, stressing that every claim must be substantiated.

Applications should be made as soon as possible, according to Ladner.

Advertisement will also go out for a new gasoline pump needed by the Gas, Water and Sewerage Department.

Purchase orders were accepted by the board for two maintenance trucks for the Gas and Water Department from Turan-Lane Chevrolet. The board also accepted purchase of a radar unit for the Waveland Police Department at the state price. The unit is a part of the recommendations of the Governor's Safety Program.

Bay Police Chief Billy Carbonette is asking for donations to the Mary Ann Favre family to help defer funeral costs.

Appeal made for Favre family

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Billy Carbonette said Monday that donations to the family of Mary Ann Favre had been very slow in coming in so far and asked that a second appeal be made.

The 15-year-old Bay St. Louis girl was found murdered last month in a wooded section of Harrison County after being kidnapped in April of 1974. Carbonette said that donations to the Favre family fund would go to help the family with funeral expenses. Anyone wishing to contribute to the fund may make their donation to the Bay St. Louis Police Department or to the Hancock County Bank.

Food stamp changes aimed at uniformity

ATLANTA, Ga. - The U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) has amended the regulations for its Food Stamp Program so that the purchase requirement for a participating household will be generally -- but not always -- be set at a uniform 30 percent of the household's adjusted net monthly income.

Responding to the many comments received from interested persons, USDA's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) made two revisions to the amendment to the regulations that it had proposed last month.

The maximum amount that a household will be required to pay will be limited to $1.00 less than the amount of food stamps for which the household qualified for the month.

In computing the amount that a household pays for its coupon allotment, any amounts that are less than a whole dollar will be dropped from the purchase requirement.

One other exception is already provided, by law, to the uniformity of the purchase requirement. Food stamps continue to be completely free for all one- and two-person households with a net monthly income of less than $20 a month, and for all other households with income of less than $30 a month.

These final amendments to the Food Stamp Program regulations were scheduled to be published in the Federal Register Wednesday, Jan. 22, and will go into effect March 1.

Details of the proposal to amend the Food Stamp Program regulations were announced Dec. 4 and text of the proposed amendment was published in the Federal Register Dec. 6.

The amendment was revised to limit the amount that a household pays as its purchase requirement to $1 less than the total monthly coupons allotment for the household. But it was decided to implement the 30 per cent purchase requirement for most of the participants in the program, since requiring all participating households to pay the same percentage of their income for their food stamps provides greatest fairness to all. This principle of equity in the program is in line with provisions of the Food Stamp Act which specify that the purchase requirement shall be a reasonable amount, not to exceed 30 percent of the household's income.

Pass Christian to hold public forum on community development

The Pass Christian board of aldermen Tuesday night appointed a seven-member advisory committee that will recommend what city development projects need federal funding. The newly-appointed committee will have its first chance to determine those needs tonight when it meets for a public forum tentatively scheduled for 7 p.m. at the City Hall.

Mayor pro tempore Charles Logan, substituting for Mayor Steve Saucier who was in Jackson, said the board "would like to have a big turnout at the public forum" so that the committee would hear a wide-range of suggestions from interested citizens.

The board last week in a special session nominated 13 candidates to fill a five-member committee, but Alderman Jerry Anderson suggested the board be expanded to seven members "to give the city better representation."

The seven members appointed to the Housing-Community Development Committee are Dayton Robinson, Frank Cook, Jr., John Mykloyk, Steve Hunter, Tom Russell, Huey Singleton, and Billy Bourdin.

The committee will work with the mayor and board of aldermen to help determine what city projects should be funded by the federal discretionary funds made available under the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. Under this new law, the city, rather than the federal government, will determine what the needs of the city are.

The board also voted unanimously to adopt the harbor ordinance changes that deal with the regulation of water crafts in the Pass Christian Harbor and other inner harbor operations. In addition, the board passed two amendments to the changes -- one, acknowledging all previous commitments with the present lease owners, and the other, granting a free slip in the harbor for the Marine Conservation Commission.

The city also agreed to write a letter of intent to the Bicentennial committee to spend $2,500 of the city's funds for the erection of eight historical plaques that will commemorate the American Revolution.

E. David McCutcheon, chairman of the Pass Christian Bicentennial committee, requested the money, saying that a matching federal grant of $2,500 could then be obtained. The federal grant is contingent upon matching funds from the city.

The board was advised that it could not commit funds from a future budget, and McCutcheon said that a letter would suffice to get the federal money.

The council also voted to assess the property of Louis P. Spier at the corner of Market and Second streets $2,200 for the cost of demolishing a building there, termed "unsafe, a fire hazard, and unfit for human habitation." The board will hear objections to the special tax at its March 4 regular meeting.

In other business, the board voted to take under study bids received for materials and junk cars. Acting on a recommendation from Mayor Saucier, the board voted to reject at this time all bids on the fishing pier.

The board also hired Ricky Jacobs to the police department at a monthly salary of $458. Ann Morgan was hired on a temporary basis as a police dispatcher effective January 27, and police dispatcher Madylein Farrell's hourly salary was increased to $2.25 because she now collects fines and takes care of the police docket.

Mississippi's early days

Pass Christian antique dealer, Phil Ambler, displays a pastel drawing of the Mississippi coast of the early 1700's which he will be bringing to the New Orleans Antique Show and Sale in March.

Antiques still sell says Pass dealer

by Anita Diawiddie
One of the still lucrative hobby-businesses in this time of economic troubles is the collection and sale of antiques. According to local antique dealer, Philip Ambler of Pass Christian, people are still buying antique furniture, paintings and pottery as an investment as well as for their aesthetic value.

"The people who can afford to buy good things are still buying," said Ambler. "The show I held last December in Jackson was even more successful than shows I attended the year before."

Ambler's specialty is 18th Century English pieces. In addition to furniture, he collects accessories such as Chinese porcelain, Staffordshire pottery and Georgian silver. His collection encompasses a price range of $100 to $10,000. One piece of Staffordshire pottery is valued as high as $400.

"I used to buy just about anything," he said, "but now I am much more particular. I never buy anything that I wouldn't want to keep in my own house."

Ambler does most of his collecting in England and Ireland, mainly at estate sales. He will then display his purchases at shows across the country.

"I attract a following from going to shows," the dealer said. "My home is my shop, and I think that people around here are frankly puzzled about what kind of business I do because I don't have a shop on the highway. The answer is that I seldom sell anything locally, but I send pieces, all over the country."

The way that an antique dealer gets started in the business is first, by a knack for picking marketable pieces and second, by gaining a reputation as a dealer. Ambler began casually while stationed in the Air Force in England. His talent for selecting valuable buys soon gained him enough customers to set up a business.

"My wife says that when I walk into a room, if there is an antique there it comes over and speaks to me," he said.

Trends are evident in antique buying just as in clothing. Ambler said that presently the hottest items are pieces from the American federalist period presumably because of the approaching bicentennial. Prices for American antiques of all periods are generally skyrocketing, the dealer said.

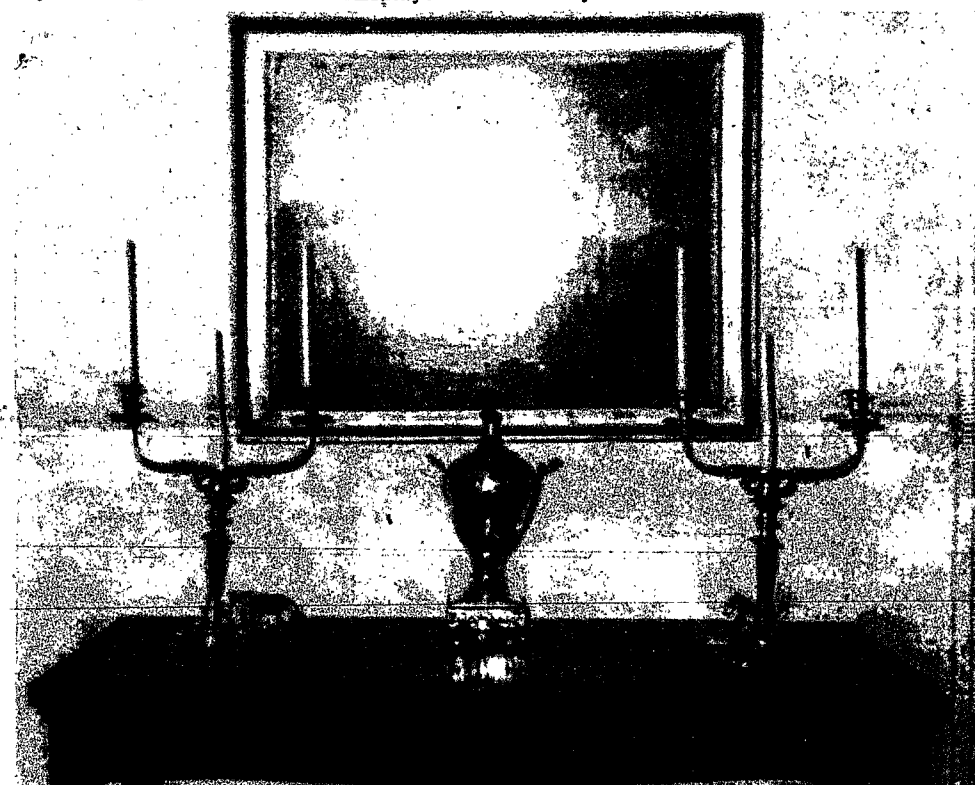

Ambler will be putting his talent for collection to work for charity next month in New Orleans. He and 62 other dealers from 20 states will be participating in the second annual New Orleans Antiques Show and Sale for the Multiple Sclerosis foundation.

"This will be a variety of displays in the Rivergate, and I really think that last year people were pleasantly surprised by the quality of the displays there. So many times these things turn into a flea market type of sale," he said.

Among other items in his collection, Ambler will be displaying an authentic map of the Gulf coast dating back to 1720. He will also have some early paintings depicting the first settlements on the coast.

The show will be held March 22-24 and all proceeds from the $2 admission will go to the MS foundation. There will also be seminars and appraisals by the experts for the amateur collectors.

18th Century setting

An English table setting from the collection of Phil Ambler, Pass Christian antique dealer will be displayed in the New Orleans Antique Show for Multiple Sclerosis. The pieces of Staffordshire pottery before the candelabra have an estimated value of $400 apiece.

Contract awarded over objection

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors awarded a contract for additions and remodeling of the Hancock County Health Center to Gregory Construction, Inc. of Gulfport for a bid of $26,262. The bid was accepted despite accusations by Beat One Supervisor Jerry Ladner that the conduct of the bidding resulted in discrimination against a local contractor.

Ladner objected to the proceedings when the architect for the project, Fred Wagner of Bay St. Louis, told the board that if a certain unnamed local contractor, later revealed to be John R. Hayward of Waveland, was awarded the contract that he would withdraw from the project. Ladner charged that since Wagner practically holds a monopoly of all architectural work in the county that his objections could pressure the board into discarding a legitimate bid by a bonded and licensed contractor.

"I am going to have to vote against whoever is awarded the contract," said Ladner, "because the manner in which the bid opening was conducted caused, in my opinion, discrimination against a local contractor."

The job was awarded by a vote of four-to-one to Gregory Construction of Gulfport, the

McKie to address Federal Landbank stockholders

J. W. "Bill" McKie, Area Agronomy Specialist, South Mississippi Experiment Station, will address stockholders of the Federal Land Bank Association of Hattiesburg during their Annual Meeting on Feb. 14, in Hattiesburg at the Farmets Market on Corinne Street at 2 p.m.

McKie will discuss converting pasture lands into soybean production, fertilization, and pasture management, according to Joe G. Spell, president of the Association.

Philip Singley, Chairman of the Association's Board of Directors, will preside over the meeting.

An election of three directors, nominating committee, and stockholder representatives will take place during the meeting of the borrower-owned lending institution. Reports of association operations during the year will be presented.

The Federal Land Bank Association of Hattiesburg makes and services farm and rural home loans in the counties of Covington, Forrest, George, Greene, Hancock, Harrison, Jackson, Jefferson Davis, Jones, Lamar, Marion, Pearl River, Perry, Stone and Wayne. The association presently has approximately 23 million in loans outstanding.

Council signs

Seashore agreement

The Bay St. Louis City Council Monday approved unanimously a motion which allows Seashore Utilities, Inc. 50 percent of all revenue collected by the city for water in the Hancock Heights Subdivision.

Attorney Michael Haas for Seashore said that the compromise agreement was worked out after the original agreement giving Seashore 75 percent of all revenues collected by the city expired almost two years ago.

"My client has invested approximately $40,000 to have water lines placed in this development," Haas told the council Monday, "and has not realized any income or return from that investment in two years."

The council had delayed paying any revenue after the original contract expired after Utility Commissioner Lucien Kidd said he thought the city was paying too high a price to Seashore to use the water lines. The city had furnished meters and tie-on lines.

The present contract is to be renewed on a yearly basis.

In other business the council delayed taking final action on establishing minimum fines for certain offenses until meetings could be held with police and City Judge Joseph Benvenuti.

And for the second week, the council refused 2-1 to take any action toward purchasing hospitalization insurance for city employees until more proposals were heard by the council.

Sisters

leave OLG

The Sisters of St. Joseph are withdrawing from teaching and administrative duties at Our Lady of the Gulf School in Bay St. Louis, Sister Patricia Sullivan, principal, said Tuesday, Feb. 4. The school will remain under the jurisdiction of the Catholic apostolates, however, under the direction of Catholic lay personnel.

"Because of the limited number of personnel we will have to withdraw completely as teachers and administrators," said Sister Sullivan, "but we will maintain an affiliation such as in-service workshops with the lay personnel who will administer the school."

The two sisters and Sister Sullivan presently at Our Lady of the Gulf School will remain through the 1975-76 school term. A new principal will probably be appointed next year as an assistant principal to gain experience in the school's operation, Sister Sullivan said.

"We don't want to leave Our Lady of the Gulf," said Sister Sullivan, "but because of the shortage of nuns we have no other choice. We are feeling the crunch—right now—especially in the elementary schools because we operate so many more of them, but even the high schools are beginning to have a problem with staffing."

MR. MICHAEL LEE OF BAY ST. LOUIS ACCEPTS DELIVERY OF HIS NEW 1975 CHEVY PICKUP FROM SALESMAN PETE MORAN.

Mr. Lee purchased a 1973 Nova new from Turan-Lane Chevrolet and was very well pleased with the deal. The folks at Turan-Lane Chevrolet in every department treated Mr. Lee and his wife so well that when he decided to buy a pickup truck he visited them. Pete Moran was able to give Mr. Lee a very good deal on a new pickup and again he is very happy about the deal and the way the folks at Turan-Lane Chevrolet treat their customers.

Pass school board still undecided on insurance

The Pass Christian school board, which has been studying the district's insurance needs for some time, had made no decision this week on awarding insurance for the school district. The board instead authorized Superintendent LeRoy Lizana to contact the General Adjustment Bureau and contract with the company to update the valuation of the district's facilities.

The school district's insurance is currently being handled by local insurance agents with E. A. Lang Insurance Company acting as agent of record. The commission from the insurance is divided between Margaret Kalif Insurance, Bernard Giadrosich Insurance, and the Lang Insurance Company. Hartwell Gex represented the Merchants Continental Insurance Company and presented the board with an insurance proposal that would cost considerably less than the premiums currently paid by the board.

Bernard Giadrosich and Nelson Lang said that the board should first decide if it would discontinue the agent of record and ultimately throw the insurance open to competitive bids.

A special meeting is to be called when the report from the General Adjustment Bureau is available.

Pearl River director gets promotion

Food director at Pearl River Junior College, Robert Goldthwaite, has been promoted to district supervisor for the ARA food services, an Atlanta, Ga. based company.

Goldthwaite's office will remain at Pearl River, but his position here will vastly change, as he will serve as immediate supervisor to seven ARA directors.

His district will include, Pearl River, Copiah-Lincoln Junior College, Livingston College, Belhaven College, Poplarville Public School, Long Beach School and a program for the elderly in Jackson.

Goldthwaite, known to this area for his colorful decoration and special presentations, will be responsible for all menus, purchasing services and special events, however it will be more in an advisory capacity to each individual director.

"I'm glad about the promotion," Goldthwaite said, "but this is a sad time for me, because these last three years have been the most interesting of my professional career." "The students here at Pearl River have really been great," he said. "They have always co-operated in whatever we have had to do."

Ken Dale of Pennsylvania has been appointed to replace Goldthwaite. The new supervisor expressed confidence in the new director, "I believe Ken is a very capable man; I know he has the knack to work with the students."

Ocean Springs plans birthday celebration

Ocean Springs, Mississippi, residents are planning a celebration for the 276th birthday of their City in April and the origin of what was to become the States of Mississippi, Alabama, Louisiana, and the entire Louisiana Colony of 1699.

Participating in the American Revolution Bicentennial, the 1699 Birthday Committee has planned Coast-wide events including an open golf tournament, flea markets, and regatta races April 4-6 to commemorate the 1699 landing of Pierre LeMoine d'Iberville on the eastern shore of Biloxi Bay, present day Ocean Springs.

Art exhibits, an historical ball, and street dances for teens are among the events to precede the birthday celebration scheduled for Sunday, April 6. Residents representing Indians, colonists and French officers, will re-enact the historic beginnings of the first permanent white settlement in the Mississippi Valley, the landing of d'Iberville.

An exotic food festival and various parades are included in the gala list of events sponsored by the 1699 Historical Committee. The annual celebration commemorates the historic erection of Fort Maurepas and the far-reaching first French settlement which later went on to settle what is now the states of Louisiana (1700) and Alabama (1702).

The board voted to award bids for art supplies for Pass High to Dick Blick Company. In other bid action the board received one bid for surplus library tables and voted to take the bid under advisement for study. The board voted to award bids for athletic equipment and supplies to the low bidder. Firms entering bids were Sportsman's Corner, Central School Supply and George's Sporting Goods.

Lizana indicated that he felt the financial situation of the school district would allow the repayment of the $50,000.00 loan made from Hancock Bank earlier in the school year. According to Lizana each day the loan remained unpaid it was costing the district money for interest. The Board voted to authorize the repayment of the $50,000.00 loan plus interest.

In personnel action, the board voted to renew the contract of Superintendent Lizana for an additional two years. This will extend the contract of the Superintendent through June, 1979. There were two years remaining on a four year contract previously renewed.

The board viewed this action as a vote of confidence for Lizana.

The Board voted to elect Chester Thornton as a teacher for the Pass Christian Middle School. Mr. Thornton will replace John Altier who resigned earlier.

Students given chance to design Bicentennial text book covers

Secretary of State Heber Ladner, Chairman of the Mississippi American Revolution Bicentennial Commission, and State Superintendent of Education Garvin Johnston announced today two special Bicentennial contests to involve Mississippi young people in the Bicentennial Celebration of Achievement. The goal of both competitions is to give Mississippi students the opportunity to design and determine the content for the school textbook covers for the 1975-76 school year.

Perry A. Snyder, Bicentennial Commission Director, stated that one contest shall determine the design for the textbook covers. The other contest shall provide a short essay for the inside flap of the covers. Snyder added that cash prizes shall go to the winning entries in both categories.

Secretary of State Ladner, speaking for the membership of the Mississippi Bicentennial Commission said: "The Commission is proud and pleased to have the opportunity to get our young people involved in the Bicentennial Celebration. We are particularly pleased that the youngsters shall have the opportunity to use their creative talents to dramatize the Bicentennial message of freedom."

State Textbook Board Director, W. A. Matthews, has formulated the following rules for the two contests. For further information on this program, please contact the State Textbook Board Office, P. O. Box 1075, Jackson, MS 39205. The rules are as follows:

DESIGN
1) The contest will be open to any student enrolled in schools receiving textbooks through the State Textbook Board.
2) Drawing must be submitted on 8 1/2 x 11 white paper in dark pencil or black ink.

3) Theme: "A Past to Honor—A Future to Mold." The drawing may center around Mississippi or the country, as a whole with emphasis on the 200th anniversary of the United States of America.

4) All drawings must be submitted to the State Textbook Board Office, P. O. Box 1075, Jackson, MS 39205, by March 3, 1975. The name of the student, grade, and school must be given on the back of the entry.

5) Four twenty-five dollar savings bonds will be awarded the winners—two from grades 1-6 and two from grades 7-12. The winning drawings will be placed on the front and back covers of the large and small book covers to be used in 1975-76. Proper identification shall be made of the winners. Send all school entries in flat envelope.

6) An independent panel of judges will make the final decision on winners for the Textbook Board Office.

Colling's Corner

By E.S. Colling

It's about time!

Last week we were privileged to sit in a meeting with a dozen good citizens of this area to organize the Historical Society of Hancock County, to formalize the search and record the results of events which have played a part in the making of our county. This is a development long overdue, as many important and interesting facts about Hancock county have been uncovered and made known up to now only by individual researchers. The objective of the new local Historical Society is to provide unified effort in discovery of facts about our past and to make everyone acquainted with them.

The great difficulty heretofore in spreading knowledge of these facts has been that they are scattered and uncoordinated. Everyone, for instance has heard—vaguely—of the Pirate House in Bay St. Louis in which the famous Lafitte was supposed to have lived after the battle of Chalmette. But nobody knows if he actually did live there, or if his fabled tunnel from the house into the waters of the bay was fact or fiction, or what his activities were in town. The house was entirely destroyed and washed away by Camille; what a pity that it was not thoroughly researched and authenticated while it still existed and that some record of Lafitte's life in the town has not been developed.

An even more regrettable oversight, because the facts are there but have never been developed, is that of the encampment of part of a regiment of U.S. Infantry in Bay St. Louis for almost two years under the command of Col. Zachary Taylor, who was later to be the hero of the Mexican War and President of the United States. The soldiers under him had been working on the new military road from Memphis to the Lake, and when it was completed they were sent to Bay St. Louis and were there for nearly two years. Col. Taylor was there with his troops for most of that time while they built a large encampment of two-story barracks, mess hall, storage, rec hall and other buildings on a large field next to St. Stanislaus school. Yet in all that time, there is no record extant of any soldiers' activities in the town, social or otherwise, nor of the Colonel's mingling with the townspeople. Even the St. Stanislaus records completely ignore the presence of the soldiers.

There are a number of stories extant of the development of the town of Shieldsboro, but not one line to substantiate them or any written account of relations between the Indians and the white settlers, except in the Laurel Woods area. Later, history ignores even the building of the railroad, an event which must have been of real news value. Even a book published many years later by the railroad itself ignores it.

So, there is plenty of material for the new Hancock County Historical Society to sink its teeth into. At last week's inaugural meeting substantial headway was made in organization and Mr. Norton Haas was elected Chairman of the group.

Our Readers Write

EDITOR:

In reference to Mr. Kennedy, Jr.'s letter: Where were you interested citizens when THE JOURDAN RIVER ANTI-POLLUTION ASSOCIATION invited the state, local, and national politicians to a public meeting in the Bay? There were two meetings.

I can tell Mr. Gehrke what will be said after the facts are presented. We Do It Our Way.

All interested citizens who do not want the waters polluted should visit north of Highway 90 on a warm sunny day and smell the drainage from Bay Saint Louis oxidation pond that runs in Watts Bayou. Now Waveland has their effluent ready to go into Edwards bayou.

There will be no fishing, crabbing, boating and no swimming this way.

I resent the article in The Times-Picayune Jan. 26, 1974 about backward Mississippi.

I extend a special invitation to members of Waveland and Bay Yacht Club to meet with The Jourdan River Anti-Pollution and Improvement Association that meets each second Saturday at 2 p.m. at Scafi's Wheel-In Restaurant, Highway 90. I am

Sincerely yours,
Mrs. Exie M. Lee
Route 3, Box 225,
Bay Saint Louis, MS. 39520

Dear Sir:

The two letters of January 16th in Re: The Dupont Plant in our region, were well taken and understood. I do believe there will be some disturbance to our Water Wells and some pollution of our pure Artesian water. I can't predict as to what degree; but the evil of many forms of progress and modern research will always prevail.

After all, what good will it bring to a community if the growing population slowly absorb the poisons in their body organs; the schools the jobs and products produced, can't save us, when health is gone.

This gigantic manufacturing venture coming into Mississippi should be given deep and intensive study, on all sides, it is too serious and complicated to make hasty decisions. Has anyone ever given thought to what, that 750,000 pounds thrust will do to our homes and water wells, when it blasts off at NASA this coming Spring, as was given out on front page news of Echo, some weeks ago.

The first blast off in the sixties, separated the seams in corners of my home, and damaged a water vein in the 1400 ft. deep water well, causing us to have to install an electric pump, to force water into our home, which was never needed previous to NASA explosions for progress and curiosity. Two highly skilled Well men from Harrison County, said, "these missile blasts cause the veins deep in the earth's water wells to be affected to such an extent, the force of water in lessened or weakened, therefore an electric pump is required to give the extra force, to water going into a home." Alas, what price progress in going to the moon and Planets, we know not of, when we cannot solve our vast problems here on earth. Inter planet space trips, only create more troubles and destruction for those below, least able to cope with recurring expenses for damage caused and for what the uncertain future may bring.

There will be an Area Pecan Management Meeting for anyone interested in pecan production on Tuesday, Feb. 11 at 7:30 p.m. The meeting will be held at Perkinston Junior College, Room 207, Dees Hall. DAIRY PROFITS

You lose three ways when you do not completely milk. The first milk from the udder has a much lower butterfat percentage than the last. So on your losses, first you lose in total volume of milk produced. Second, you lost butterfat percentage resulting in a lower price for your milk. Third, you lose because incomplete milking tends to dry up the cow.

For best milking results, stimulate the cow for milk let-down and attach the milking machine one minute later. Milk the cow out quickly and machine strip. When the milk stops flowing, remove the machine.

Do not let calves nurse the cow last or

Legislative Report

The Mississippi Legislature is now in its fifth week of the 1975 regular session. It is said by many that this is a very historical session. For example, in past sessions it has been very unusual for a bill to pass on the floor of either chamber before the second or third week not to mention any important issues which were usually held to the later part of the session. This year several bills were passed within the first two or three days. Included in bills passed the first week were educational bills dealing with teacher pay raise.

The Deepwater Port Bill was signed into law. As expected, President Ford signed the Deepwater Port Act of 1974 (PL 93-627), legislation establishing procedures for the licensing and construction of deepwater ports. The new law gives each adjacent coastal state veto authority over license applications but Section Three of the law provides an expanded definition of governor as "the governor of the State or the person designated by state law to exercise the power granted to the Governor pursuant to this act."

Therefore the law expressly gives individual state legislators the opportunity to vest the authority for deciding on the construction of deepwater ports to an individual or institution apart from the governor.

they will get the highest testing milk. Instead, feed the calf milk or milk replacer in a nipple bucket.

FERTILIZER SUBSTITUTES

If you spend your money for so-called fertilizer substitute or other fancy-sounding miracle names being sold as substitutes for fertilizer, you may be buying a big load of nothing. Be highly wary if:

(1) the product is said to contain a secret or unknown ingredient or has magical benefits.

(2) it operates on a newly discovered problem or involves a completely new approach to soil chemistry or other fertilizer practices, or if it operates by mysterious forces.

(3) the product is so new that research scientists have not even heard of it and the experiment station personnel or Extension agents refuse to conduct research on the product.

(4) a small amount will replace large quantities of fertilizer, lime or other recommended materials.

(5) the benefits claimed are substantiated by testimonials rather than representative project research reports.

WEED CONTROL

Sometimes controlling weeds around buildings, fence rows and ditch banks presents problems.

When desirable trees or shrubs are nearby, do not use soil sterilants. Rain water can easily move the soil sterilants down slopes, killing existing vegetation and creating erosive areas.

2,4-D should not be used under windy conditions or near sensitive crops. Use herbicidal oils which are fire potential with care. Only use, sodium chlorate with one of the fire suppressants such as borates, urea and certain chlorides.

Never apply sodium chlorate near buildings, especially those made of combustible material.

Social Security

Working people who face a long-term severe disability should apply promptly for social security benefits to avoid loss of payments they may be entitled to, according to Charles E. Wofford, social security district manager in Gulfport.

Social security pays monthly benefits to eligible workers and their families if the worker is severely disabled and cannot work for a year or more. Payment begins with the sixth full-month of disability.

"Back payments can only be made for up to 12 months," Wofford said. "So disabled workers shouldn't delay their applications, even if they're not sure they'll qualify for payments. About one of every 12 workers getting social security disability payments misses out on some payments because he applied too late."

Disabled workers who haven't applied for benefits should call any social security office as soon as possible, according to Wofford. "Or, they can ask a friend or relative to make the call," he said.

Social security disability benefits are paid to over 2 million disabled workers and over 1½ million dependents. The average payment is $205 a month. Disabled people who have been entitled to social security disability benefits for 24 consecutive months or more also are eligible for Medicare health insurance.

People can get a report on the earnings credited to their social security record free of charge by calling or writing any social security office, according to Charles E. Wofford, social security district manager in Gulfport.

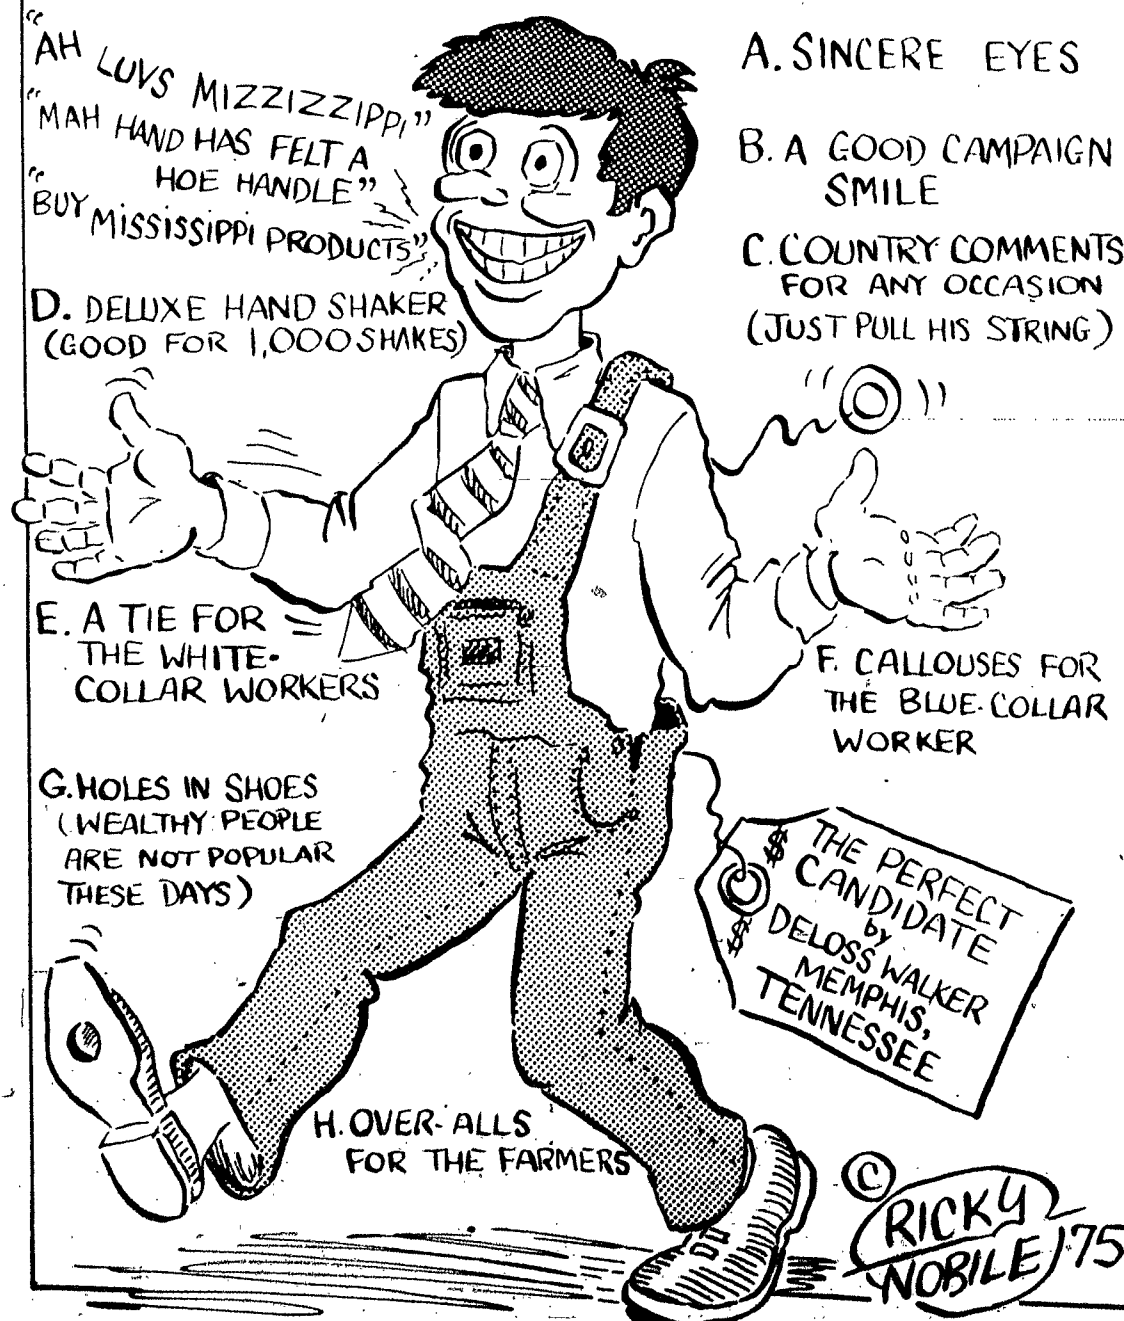

"You don't need to pay anyone to help you get a statement of your earnings," Wofford said. "Just ask any social security office for a 'Request for Statement of Earnings' post card. Fill in your name, address, date of birth, and social security number. Sign, stamp, and mail the card. Social security will send you a statement of earnings credited to your record free of charge."

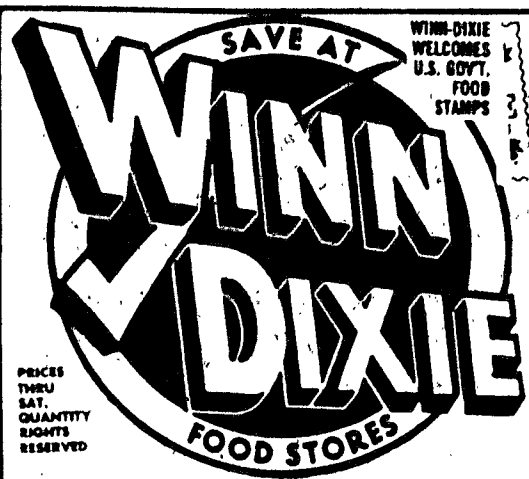

Earnings credited to the worker's social security number build retirement, disability, survivors, and Medicare protection for workers and their families. The amount of monthly social security payments is based on the worker's average earnings over a period of years.

The Social Security Administration is an agency of the U.S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. The Gulfport social security office is at 02015 Pass Road. The phone number is 1-896-1324.

Scouts offered dentistry badge

Boy Scouts in the New Orleans Council are now able to earn a new merit badge in dentistry. Counselors for the Scouts earning the badge will be recruited from the New Orleans Dental Association.

The new merit badge was introduced in connection with two national observances -- National Children's Dental Health Week and the Boy Scouts' 65th anniversary. The badge is a joint project of the Boy Scouts of America and the American Dental Association.

"This prevention-oriented merit badge teaches the Scout the importance of good oral health and stresses self-care for controlling dental disease," said Gerald F. Villars, director of support services, New Orleans Area Council. "It also offers an exploration experience for careers in dentistry."

Dr. Frank L. Herbert, dental association president, explained the types of requirements that the Scouts would have to meet in order to earn the badge. "Among the things the Scout will be called upon to learn will be the nutritional requirements and the role of fluorides in maintaining good oral health, the techniques of plaque control, first aid for oral injuries and the role the dentist plays in overall health care," he said.

Each Scout will work with a dentist-counselor to meet the requirements for the badge. Mr. Villars explained that the merit badge program is an elective, educational plan that provides broad insights into many fields of skill and knowledge. There are more than 100 merit badges available, each with a strong potential as a career or hobby.

MAS president charges outdated laws

Sam Alford, president of Mississippi Association of Supervisors, speaking to the Jackson Optimist Club at the Sun-N-Sand Motel Feb. 3 blasted the 1975 Legislative program for the supervisors of the state.

"We are asking the legislature to free county government from the straight jacket we have been placed in over a period of 30 or 40 years with horse and buggy laws so that local government can be responsive to the local needs. Some of these laws are a disservice to elected officials," Alford pointed out.

Some of the changes the MAS is asking for, Alford said, are in the bid laws and the new purchasing law passed in 1974. These laws are in conflict and are impossible to comply with.

"Supervisors are making every effort to comply with these laws, but find it is hampering our operation and the cost is breaking our counties," Alford said.

"The sheriff's succession bill, that has been in operation for almost four years is the most expensive thing that ever happened to county government," said Alford, pointing out that the budgets submitted to the Secretary of State, for 72 counties in 1971 was $3,851,488.15 for law enforcement and tax collecting. The budget for the Sheriff's office alone for the same 72 counties is $8,232,202.22.

Alford complained that many of the new laws supervisors were forced to operate under were open ended as to what they cost and prohibited making an accurate budget.

"We need to realize that we are the most undeveloped state in the union as far as our potential is concerned," Alford stated, and cited the 28,600 miles of gravel roads leading to the most beautiful parts of our state.

"We have asked the legislature," Alford said, "for a new secondary state aid road program just to pave between the fences, leaving the hills alone in order to utilize all of our state."

Alford pointed out that the federal system comprises only a minute percentage of Mississippi's farm-to-market system.

In most cases, Alford said, the roads are not even on the state highway system and are the sole responsibility of county government.

"Counties just simply cannot build these new roads and keep up 28,000 miles of gravel roads on seven mills of tax that hasn't been changed in 40 years," Alford said.

Senior citizens tour VA Center

Nineteen participants and four staff members of the Hancock County Senior Citizens Center for Senior Citizens toured the Veterans Administration Center in Gulfport, Friday, Jan. 24.

Leonard Bentz, social worker of the V. A., was the tour guide.

Transportation for the tour was provided by Hancock County's mini bus and two employees' cars.

The tour evolved around such sites as a gymnasium, recreation center, swimming pool, library, chapel, bowling alley, pool tables, canteen, walk-in movies, and facilities for corrective and physical therapy.

On Jan. 29, the Bay St. Louis Spend-the-Day participants made an enjoyable visit to Gulfport. Their destination was the newly opened Spend-the-Day Center in Gulfport. The 18 visiting seniors were entertained with an arts and crafts demonstration.

Historical club elects officers

The Hancock County Historical and Research Society, an organization established to preserve local historical records, has elected officers for 1975. They are Norton Haas, Sr., president; Ames Kergosien, vice-president; Mrs. Sylvia McComiskey, secretary; and Mrs. Peggy Gibbons, treasurer.

The organization is seeking a charter in order to begin projects for the nation's bicentennial.

Long Beach postpones meeting

The Long Beach board of aldermen postponed its Tuesday night regular meeting because three of the city's five councilmen were unable to attend. The city must have at least three aldermen present at the meeting to have a quorum.

Mayor Sam Maxwell said that Alderman Mike Rutledge is presently recovering from surgery, and Jimmy Savarese was called away by a death in his family. Alderman Bob Richards was also absent, leaving the board with just two members — Jimmy Moran and Sal Giuffria.

The meeting has been rescheduled for Friday at 7 p.m.

Don Mauffray
Recreation Director

The January birthday parties at the V.C.J. Center in Bay St. Louis and the Kiln Memorial V. F. W. Post No. 6285 Hall in Kiln were both well-attended and enjoyed by all. After enjoying the delicious refreshments of home-made cakes and punch (and also chicken salad sandwiches and chips at Kiln), Betty Carroll entertained with her beautiful renditions of old favorites while everyone joined in a song fest. Special thanks to all you wonderful volunteers for making both parties so enjoyable. Also thanks to Mrs. Polly Mazarakis for the plant cuttings and playing cards that she distributed at the V.C.J. Party. Mrs. Mazarakis, of the Bay-Waveland Garden Club, gave a very interesting talk on plant care.

On Sunday, Jan. 19, the Senior Citizens Choral Group sang for 11 o'clock Services at the A.M.E. Church in Pearllington. We would like to thank Rev. & Mrs. Sams and the whole congregation for such warm hospitality and delicious food following the services.

Our ceramics classes will still be on Wednesdays with Mrs. Penny Pendergraft as instructor. It shouldn't be too long before we have our own kiln for firing.

Our handicrafts class has also been changed to Tuesdays from 1 p.m. - 2:30 p.m.

Mr. Hugh Miller has started a Photography Class along with his and Jose Urbino's Small Appliance Repair Class on Wednesdays at 1 p.m.

Sister Margaret of St. Rose de Lima School is starting an Art Class on Thursday mornings at the V. C. J. Center on OST from 10 a.m. to 11 a.m. Also beginning on Thursday, Feb. 20, Mrs. Lelia Baldenhofer will again be planting seeds and potting plants in the green house with Mr. Felix Seeger. Anyone who wishes to help her may do so. She will be there on Thursday mornings from 11 a.m. to noon. If anyone who helps Mrs. Baldenhofer has any seeds that they would like to get started and then take home for planting they may do so.

Thanks to Mr. J. P. Compretta, the Senior Citizens will be planting a Spring Vegetable garden on his property just off Drinkwater Road. Thanks also to his father, Mr. Joe Compretta, who is preparing the ground and making the rows for us to get started as soon as possible. This is a very commendable gesture on their part and is sincerely appreciated by all of us. Now, by this means, I would like to ask any of you who would like to donate any seeds or fertilizer for this worthwhile project to please call me at 467-9291 and I will be happy to pick them up. At the moment we especially need seed potatoes, bush bean seeds, and fertilizer. Our scheduled time for group-working in the garden will be from 9:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays. However, any of our Senior Citizens who wish to spend some time in the garden on other days and times may do so.

Honorable Mayor Longo of Waveland again this year extended an invitation to the Senior Citizens to review the beautiful Nereids Parade from the City Hall Gallery. Thank you very much, Mayor Longo, for the Hospitality.

Counselor plans visit

Admissions counselor David Holloway of Mississippi College, will be visiting Pearl River Junior College to talk with sophomores interested in continuing their education at Mississippi College.

Holloway will be at the school Tuesday, Feb. 11, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. and invites anyone in the Pearl River Junior College student body to drop by and visit with him.

Review of THE DAUGHTERS

by Joe Pilet
Just who is Peggy Anderson? Perhaps we should ask who was Peggy Anderson?

Ms. Anderson, formerly a feature writer for the Philadelphia Inquirer, is now a free-lance writer and the author of a book called THE DAUGHTERS. Perhaps she has not yet received a citation for bravery, but Peggy Anderson is brave. Her book deals with an accumulation of facts about the world's largest woman's organization, the Daughters of The American Revolution. Membership now is at an all-time high and totals approximately 200,000. Before Peggy Anderson did her exhaustive research, which required over a year and during which time she interviewed Daughters of all ages, shapes and sizes, the image of a typical DAR was referred to as "the little old women in tennis shoes". Peggy's book reveals that DAR members in good standing include beauty queens, Colonial Dames, and Playboy Club! Topics in the book literally cover the alphabet: A for America through Z for Ziesmer and Zimballist. Sandwiched in between are such tantalizing topics as the Marian Anderson Incident, Board of Education, Watergate, "Rosalie", Museums, Patriotism and very revealing facts about the part DAR plays in education and preservation of history. Peggy Anderson's book reveals most impressively what it means to be really patriotic in America today. Copyrighted in 1974 with all rights reserved, the book carries Library of Congress Catalogue No. 73-87396 and was published by the St. Martin's Press, 175 Fifth Avenue, New York. Zip 10010. This book will be reviewed locally in the near future.

Bay program seeks citizen involvement

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Billy Carbonette said Tuesday the department was instituting a citizen involvement program to be called "Crime-Stop" in efforts to slow down and discourage vandalism and burglaries in Bay St. Louis.

"Persons seeing a crime being committed can call this number and give the information to the operator without giving their name," Carbonette said. "We hope maybe this will encourage some people who have been reluctant to get involved before to take that first step to help stop some of our vandalism and burglaries."

"We need public support," Carbonette said, "to clean up Bay St. Louis."

LeVasseur, Breland fired . . .

Letters from Breland and LeVasseur were read to the board and accepted. Breland's letter only requested payment for six days of work for which he had not been paid, but said nothing of the reasons for his dismissal. LeVasseur's letter, however, made it clear that his employment had been terminated by the state and not by Superintendent McCarty. Up to this point there has been no indication that replacements will be hired for either Breland's or LeVasseur's positions.

"I will do Breland's work and Ed LeVasseur's, too, and I will do it a lot better," said McCarty in reply to the question of replacement raised by Mrs. J. C. Koenen, Breland's daughter.

Mrs. Koenen said that the dismissal was triggered by publicity in local newspapers about the conflict between her father and McCarty. McCarty's irritation over recent press coverage of the board was evident from the beginning of the meeting when he opened with a prayer asking for harmonious work of the board in spite of the ruining effects of "rampaging news stories" of the board's activities.

In other business, the board approved eight teacher's aides hired under the federally sponsored manpower program. Board member Johnny Banks raised the question of why no blacks had been appointed to any of the positions. He accused Superintendent McCarty of not publicizing the openings in a way that would attract black applicants.

"Most people didn't even know about the openings," Banks said. "The jobs were offered to certain individuals without asking for any other applications. It's all a family affair."

The board also listened to a report by Dr. Frank Lovell, Executive Secretary of the Education and Finance Commission, recommending the extension of the cafeteria at Hancock North Central and also the addition of four classrooms there. He also recommended the installation of restroom facilities in the gymnasium of Gulfview School. The board will move first on the plans for the extension of Hancock North Central cafeteria. Plans for the project should be completed by the end of this school term.

The board approved a Civil Defense Emergency Operation plan for use in all schools in the district. The accreditation report for Hancock County schools listed the lack of such a plan as a major deficiency which must be corrected. The plan approved by the board outlines emergency procedure for fire, severe weather, bomb threats and nuclear warnings. Individual schools will submit separate floor plans of evacuation routes along with the master plan.

In a final action, the board approved a policy statement in compliance with the federal Rights and Privileges Act of 1974 outlining the rights of students in the county school system.

Postal remodelling

The U. S. Post Office on Main St. in Bay St. Louis is presently being re-painted and remodelled for greater convenience and efficiency. Work should be completed within the next few weeks.

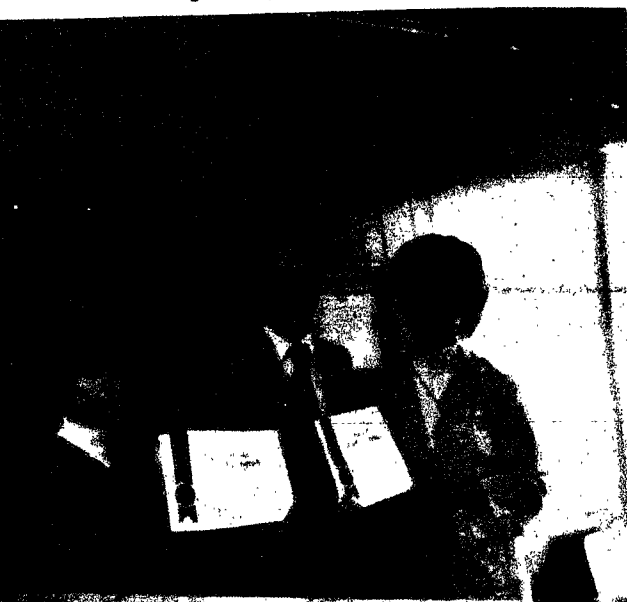

Migues trial set

Leroy Migues, who was charged with the September 19 armed robbery of a Pass Christian bank, is scheduled to go to trial May 19 in Biloxi.

Migues reportedly stole $26,000 from the Gulf National branch bank on Henderson and escaped in a car with Ileen Vick.

Both Miss Vick and Migues were arrested in El Paso in early October by F.B.I. agents.

FHA employees honored

Mrs. Margaret C. Prevou, County Assistant, and Mrs. Hedy R. Chiniche, County Office Clerk, received an award for "Quality Performance" from the Farmers Home Administration on the recommendation of their immediate supervisor, Frank D. Shoemaker. These awards, being presented by Mr.

Shoemaker, are for work performance exceeding normal requirements of their positions. Mrs. Prevou has been employed with the Farmers Home Administration in Hancock County for six years and Mrs. Chiniche has been employed for five and one-half years.

Burglars hit stores

Bay St. Louis Police Chief Billy Carbonette reported burglaries at two Bay St. Louis establishments during the past week.

Carbonette said investigations into both break-ins was still continuing.

Repairs promised repairs, but also wanted the official's promise that trains would reduce speeds while traveling through Hancock County, which Barber refused to give.

"We feel that the track is safe enough for the schedule speed of 50 mph," said Barber. "If we didn't think it was safe we wouldn't endanger the lives of our own people. Speed actually had nothing to do with the derailment in November and the one a few weeks ago."

The division engineer said that the trains would travel at a maximum speed of 25 mph over the area of track where the roadbed had sunk because of the most recent derailment, but would maintain regular speed otherwise.

"We understand the problems that the railroad has, but we wish that you would respect the wishes of this board and reduce your speed," said Supervisor Jimmy Travivra.

The board voted to ask the Public Service Commission to support a resolution to keep the speeds at a maximum of 40 mph in all areas of Hancock County. Ernest Reeves, Railroad Inspector, agreed with the board, somewhat reluctantly that the railroad should be forced to reduce speed until repairs were completed. The entire question of speed is still uncertain, however, until the Public Service Commissioner accepts the Board of Supervisors' authority to set limits.

The question of proper signals at crossings was also raised by Hancock County

Public television to air series on La. constitution

In April 1974, Louisiana voters, in one of the most important voting decisions of the decade, approved a new state constitution by a decisive margin.

By a vote of 360,980 to 262,676, voters nodded yes to the new constitution and ushered in a new era for Louisiana.

The new constitution went into effect January 1 and brought down the curtain on a stormy epoch in the state's political history.

The new constitution drastically changes the structure of state government; it gives more power to the legislature; it calls for the uniform ratio of property assessment throughout the state; it allows for more home rule government. The old constitution did none of these. The transition from one constitution to another will not be an easy one for the residents of Louisiana.

GOVERNMENT OF BY AND FOR... premiering Feb. 12 at 6:30 p.m. on Channel 12, will examine aspects of that transition, detailing the most important sections of the new constitution. Each facet of the document will be explored: what it may mean, who holds varying views on it, and panel discussion by community residents and experts in the field. Headlining the first program will be Governor Edwin Edwards, one of the prime movers behind the new constitution.

Brochures outlining the format of each program will be distributed prior to the air date of each show to students in Orleans and Jefferson parishes and to universities and colleges and to interested persons so they may follow the course.

The entire cost of the 13 part series is being underwritten by Shell Oil Company. Series producer and host is Bill Hess; assistant producer, Elizabeth Curran, and States Item reporter Allan Katz, writer.

Parade viewing area reserved

Special arrangements have been made to provide senior citizens a reserved viewing area on the City Hall porch for viewing Sunday's Mardi Gras parade and ceremonial toasting of the King and Queen.

Mayor Steve Saucier said that there will be room for about 36 seats which must be reserved in advance. Saucier said that the only qualifications are that the guests be over 65 years old and a resident of Pass Christian.

City Hall closed

The Pass Christian City Hall will be closed Tuesday for Mardi Gras. Garbage pickups normally scheduled for the east end of town will be picked up Wednesday.

Reservations can be made by calling the mayor's office at 452-2626.

O.L.G. COUNCIL ELECTS 1975 OFFICERS

Michael Haas, Bay St. Louis Attorney, was re-elected Parish Council President of O.L.G. Church at its January meeting.

David Treutel, insurance and homestead executive, was re-elected vice-president for the coming year.

Elected Secretary was Susan Ryan, who replaced veteran Secretary Doris Carrio. President Haas expressed the appreciation of the Council for the many years of dedicated service of Miss Carrio.

Garden club plans tree-planting

by Anita Dinwiddie

A highway beautification project has been started for the Bay St. Louis-Waveland area. The project, scheduled to begin on Arbor Day, Feb. 22, is part of a continuing beautification project for the nation's bicentennial. The area included in the project will extend along Highway 90 from the Waveland Hospitality Center to the Bay bridge.

The Bay-Waveland Garden Club is the organizer of the Arbor Day tree-planting project under the direction of Civic Development Chairwoman, Mrs. Dan Russell. The ceremony will be of special significance to the organization because it marks the 35th anniversary of the club.

"The Garden Club will be planting 24 large magnolias in honor of each past president of the club," Mrs. Russell said.

Mrs. Paul M. Miller is the chairwoman of the Arbor Day ceremonies. The dedication of the new trees will be held at 10:30 a.m. Feb. 22 in the service lane of Highway 90 between Second St. and Dunbar Ave. All of the organizations who have contributed to the project will be present.

The Garden club has raised approximately $1000 already for the bicentennial project and hopes to reach its goal of $1200. The club hopes to be able to plant 200 trees for the nation's 200 years.

"As we are the entrance to the gulf coast, we want to make our area more scenic," said Mrs. Russell, "and we are counting on civic and service organizations to make a contribution."

Some of the organizations who have pledged support for the project are Hancock County Board of Supervisors, Bay St. Louis City Council, Mayor and Board of Aldermen of Waveland, Bay St. Louis Rotary Club, Diamondhead Garden Club, Bay-Waveland Junior Auxiliary, Altrusa Club, Bay St. Louis and Waveland Jaycees, American Legion and their auxiliaries in Bay St. Louis and Waveland, Coast Electric Power Association, Hancock Bank and Merchant's Bank.

Much of the funds for the project will be contributed by the Bay-Waveland Garden Club from prize money won in previous projects from Sears' Environmental Improvement Program and the Home and Neighborhood Development Service.

The stress will be on planting native trees such as live oak, pine and magnolia. There will also be beauty spots of flowering shrubs in the median of the highway in compliance with safety requirements. The club will work with Superintendent of Public Grounds, Felix Seager, in planning the median work.

In addition to the planned tree planting, the Bay-Waveland Garden Club has asked individual businessmen and home owners to plant one tree for Arbor Day in front of their business or residence. Club members have offered their assistance to any interested individuals who need planting instructions.

NAACP elects officers for 1975

The Hancock County branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People (NAACP) elected its officers and committee members for 1975 recently. They are president, Albert Fairconnette; vice-president, Julius Williams; secretary, Clementine Williams; assistant secretary, Marilyn Williams; and treasurer, Father Borgia Aubespain.

Committee chairmen are: church work, Rev. Theo Triplett; community coordination, Maurice Singleton; education, Mrs. Daisy Bell; finance, Father Borgia Aubespain; fund-raising, Mrs. Catherine Ishem; labor and industry, Mr. Alonza Clayborn, Jr.; legal redress, Susan Brown; membership, Alton Benoit; political action, Emile Hazeur; press and publicity, Patricia Clayborn; veterans, Julius Williams; life membership, Clarence Harris; and youth, Sam Sheppard.

Regular meetings are scheduled the fourth Monday of each month at 6:45 p.m. Committees meet the Monday preceding the regular meeting at the same time.

The next committee meeting will be Feb. 17, at Macedonia Baptist Church in Waveland, and the regular meeting will be Feb. 24 at Gulfside Assembly.

Clermont Handcrafters sponsor junior group

Clermont Handcrafters met Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. G.T. Moreau with Mrs. Kirkland Rheams and Mrs. Jewel Stratton as co-hostesses.

Mrs. Maurice George, president, conducted the business session. The group voted to sponsor the junior handcrafters and to assist their leader, Mrs. Maurice George, with their programs.

Mrs. J.C. Goodloe displayed a handmade felt heart-shaped pin cushion.

Mrs. Lloyd Garcia, new member, was welcomed by the group.

MISS GINGER CAGLE

Bay "Sweetheart" wins statewide

Ginger Cagle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl E. Cagle of Bay St. Louis, was named the fourth runner-up in the State Tiny Miss Sweetheart Contest Friday, Jan. 31.

Miss Cagle, age 4, competed against 11 other contestants in the 24 division of the contest. The children were judged on poise and beauty.

Pass krewe names rulers, sets contest

Everette Ladner and Frona Oestricher will reign as king and queen of this year's carnival ball and parade in Pass Christian.

The team headed by the new rulers raised the majority of money during a four week period. Otis Cason and Marie Malline Rogers, captains of the other team, will hold the titles of grand duke and grand duchess of the ball and parade.

The krewe of the Pass Christian Carnival Association will hold its annual ball Saturday, Feb. 8, at 9 p.m. at St. Paul's School gymnasium in Pass Christian. Money raised by the carnival association will go to St. Paul's School.

King Christian XLII will lead the parade through Pass Christian and toast his Queen Christiana at 2 p.m. at City Hall.

The Rules Committee for the Pass Christian Carnival Association issued the following stipulations this week regarding entries for the group's parade Sunday.

Individual maskers between the ages of two and 13 years-old will be judged at St. Paul's gym in Pass Christian immediately following the parade.

Individual maskers from 12 years through adult will be judged during the parade and must participate in the parade either by walking or riding bicycles. Trophies in this category will be presented at St. Paul's Gym.

Each float entered is required to have at least one representative, preferably all, present for the awards so that spectators can get a closer look at the costumes. All trophies will be presented immediately after the parade at St. Paul's Gym on East Second Street.

The various categories are first and second places, organizations; first and second places, businesses; first and second places, family neighborhood floats; best masker, best child masker; best out-of-town float, and special achievement award.

A new trophy has been added this year for marching groups known as the Griffin Trophy.

OLG announces Mardi Gras holiday

Our Lady of the Gulf School will close at noon Friday for the Mardi Gras holidays. Lunch will not be served. Classes will resume Thursday, Feb. 13.

All parents of children in fourth grade and anyone interested in preparing their children for the Sacrament of Penance are asked to attend two workshops to be conducted by Sister Betty Tranel, Diocesan Religion Coordinator of Jackson, February 19 and February 26, beginning at 7:30 p.m. in OLG School cafeteria.

Marriage postponed

The marriage of Miss Patricia Lynne to Mr. Winsel Russel Loyd Jr., both of Bay St. Louis, has been postponed

Long Beach Carnival Club holds ball

The Long Beach Carnival Association held its 15th Annual Ball Saturday, Feb. 1 at St. Thomas Gym in Long Beach. The theme for this year was "A Tribute to Famous Books." David Cobb reigned as King Scott XV with Linda Fayard reigning as his Queen Rosalie.

The gym was decorated with scenes from great classics. Scenes from "Tom Sawyer", "Huckleberry Finn", "Mississippi Riverboat", "White Fang", "Moby Dick", "The Yearling", and "Twenty Thousand Leagues Under the Sea" were painted on the stage walls. Other walls were decorated with life-size murals depicting "Paul Bunyan", "Ben Hur", "Treasure Island", "Alladin and His Magic Lamp", "Wizard of Oz", "Robinson Crusoe", "The Bible", "Jonathan Livingston Seagull", "Mutiny on the Bounty", "Gone With the Wind", and "Uncle Remus".

Danny Hansen opened the program as master of ceremonies and presented an engraved plaque to John Brokowski in appreciation for his work as President.

The Grand Duke, Grant Thomas III, and the Grand

Duchess, Cathy Gillis led the 1975 royalty. Dukes for 1975 were Jake Hertzog, John Durst, Bob France, Bill Cole, Mike Liebart, Charles Purvis, Gino Lusardi, Michael Glancey, Mike Spears, Doug Hood and Marion Carver. Maids for 1975 were Marilyn Viger, Jane Thompson, Martha Purvis, Sandra Ladner, Nancy Hicks, Dina Trisotto, Rose France, Nellie Lusardi, Betty Fouch, Paula Spears, Cathy Hood and Bea Reinike.

The Ball Chairmen for the organization were Mr. and Mrs. Chuck Gosell, and Associate Chairmen were Mr. and Mrs. Tony Schenayder. Marilyn Castiglia was Chairman of decorations and Ball Arrangements were made by Mr. and Mrs. Roy Schutzman.

Triton plans first parade

EVERT P. EXNICIOUS
King Triton I

The Krewe of Triton will parade for the first time on Mardi Gras day, Tuesday, Feb. 11, at 2:30 p.m. in Waveland and Bay St. Louis. The krewe plans a ten float parade, including marching bands and mounted Lieutenants which will proceed along the south lane of Highway 90 in Waveland from Our Shopping Center to Dunbar Ave. in Bay St. Louis. King Triton I is Evert P. Exnicious, owner of Hungry's Auto Sales in Bay St. Louis. Exnicious is a member of the Waveland Police Department, Waveland Civic Association and the Waveland Jaycees.

Pages to the king will be Steven Auderer Kidd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kidd, and Kirk Allan Ladner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Evert P. Exnicious.

SJA-OLG plans 42nd annual ball

John McKenna, SJA-OLG Carnival Association general chairman, has announced preparations for the 42nd annual carnival ball to be held Friday, Feb. 7, at 9 p.m. in St. Joseph Academy Memorial Hall.

The ball is one of the oldest social events on the Gulf Coast and for years has been one of the highlights of the carnival season in Hancock County.

Miss Ladner to wed Mr. Kinney

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence H. Ladner of Bay St. Louis announce the engagement of their daughter Margie Sue to Warren L. Kinney, son of Mr. and Mrs. Larkin McNeil of Pennsylvania. The ceremony will be held Feb. 16 at 2 p.m. at the Waveland First Baptist Church. A reception will be held following the ceremony at Harbor Inn, Highway 90 West.

The identities of the King and Queen and the theme of the ball, a closely guarded secret, will be revealed the night of the event.

Tickets are $3 for reserved seats and $5 for box seats and are available by contacting Our Lady of the Gulf rectory. All seats will be reserved and tickets must be purchased in advance as none will be sold at the door. Proceeds from the ball will go to Our Lady of the Gulf School.

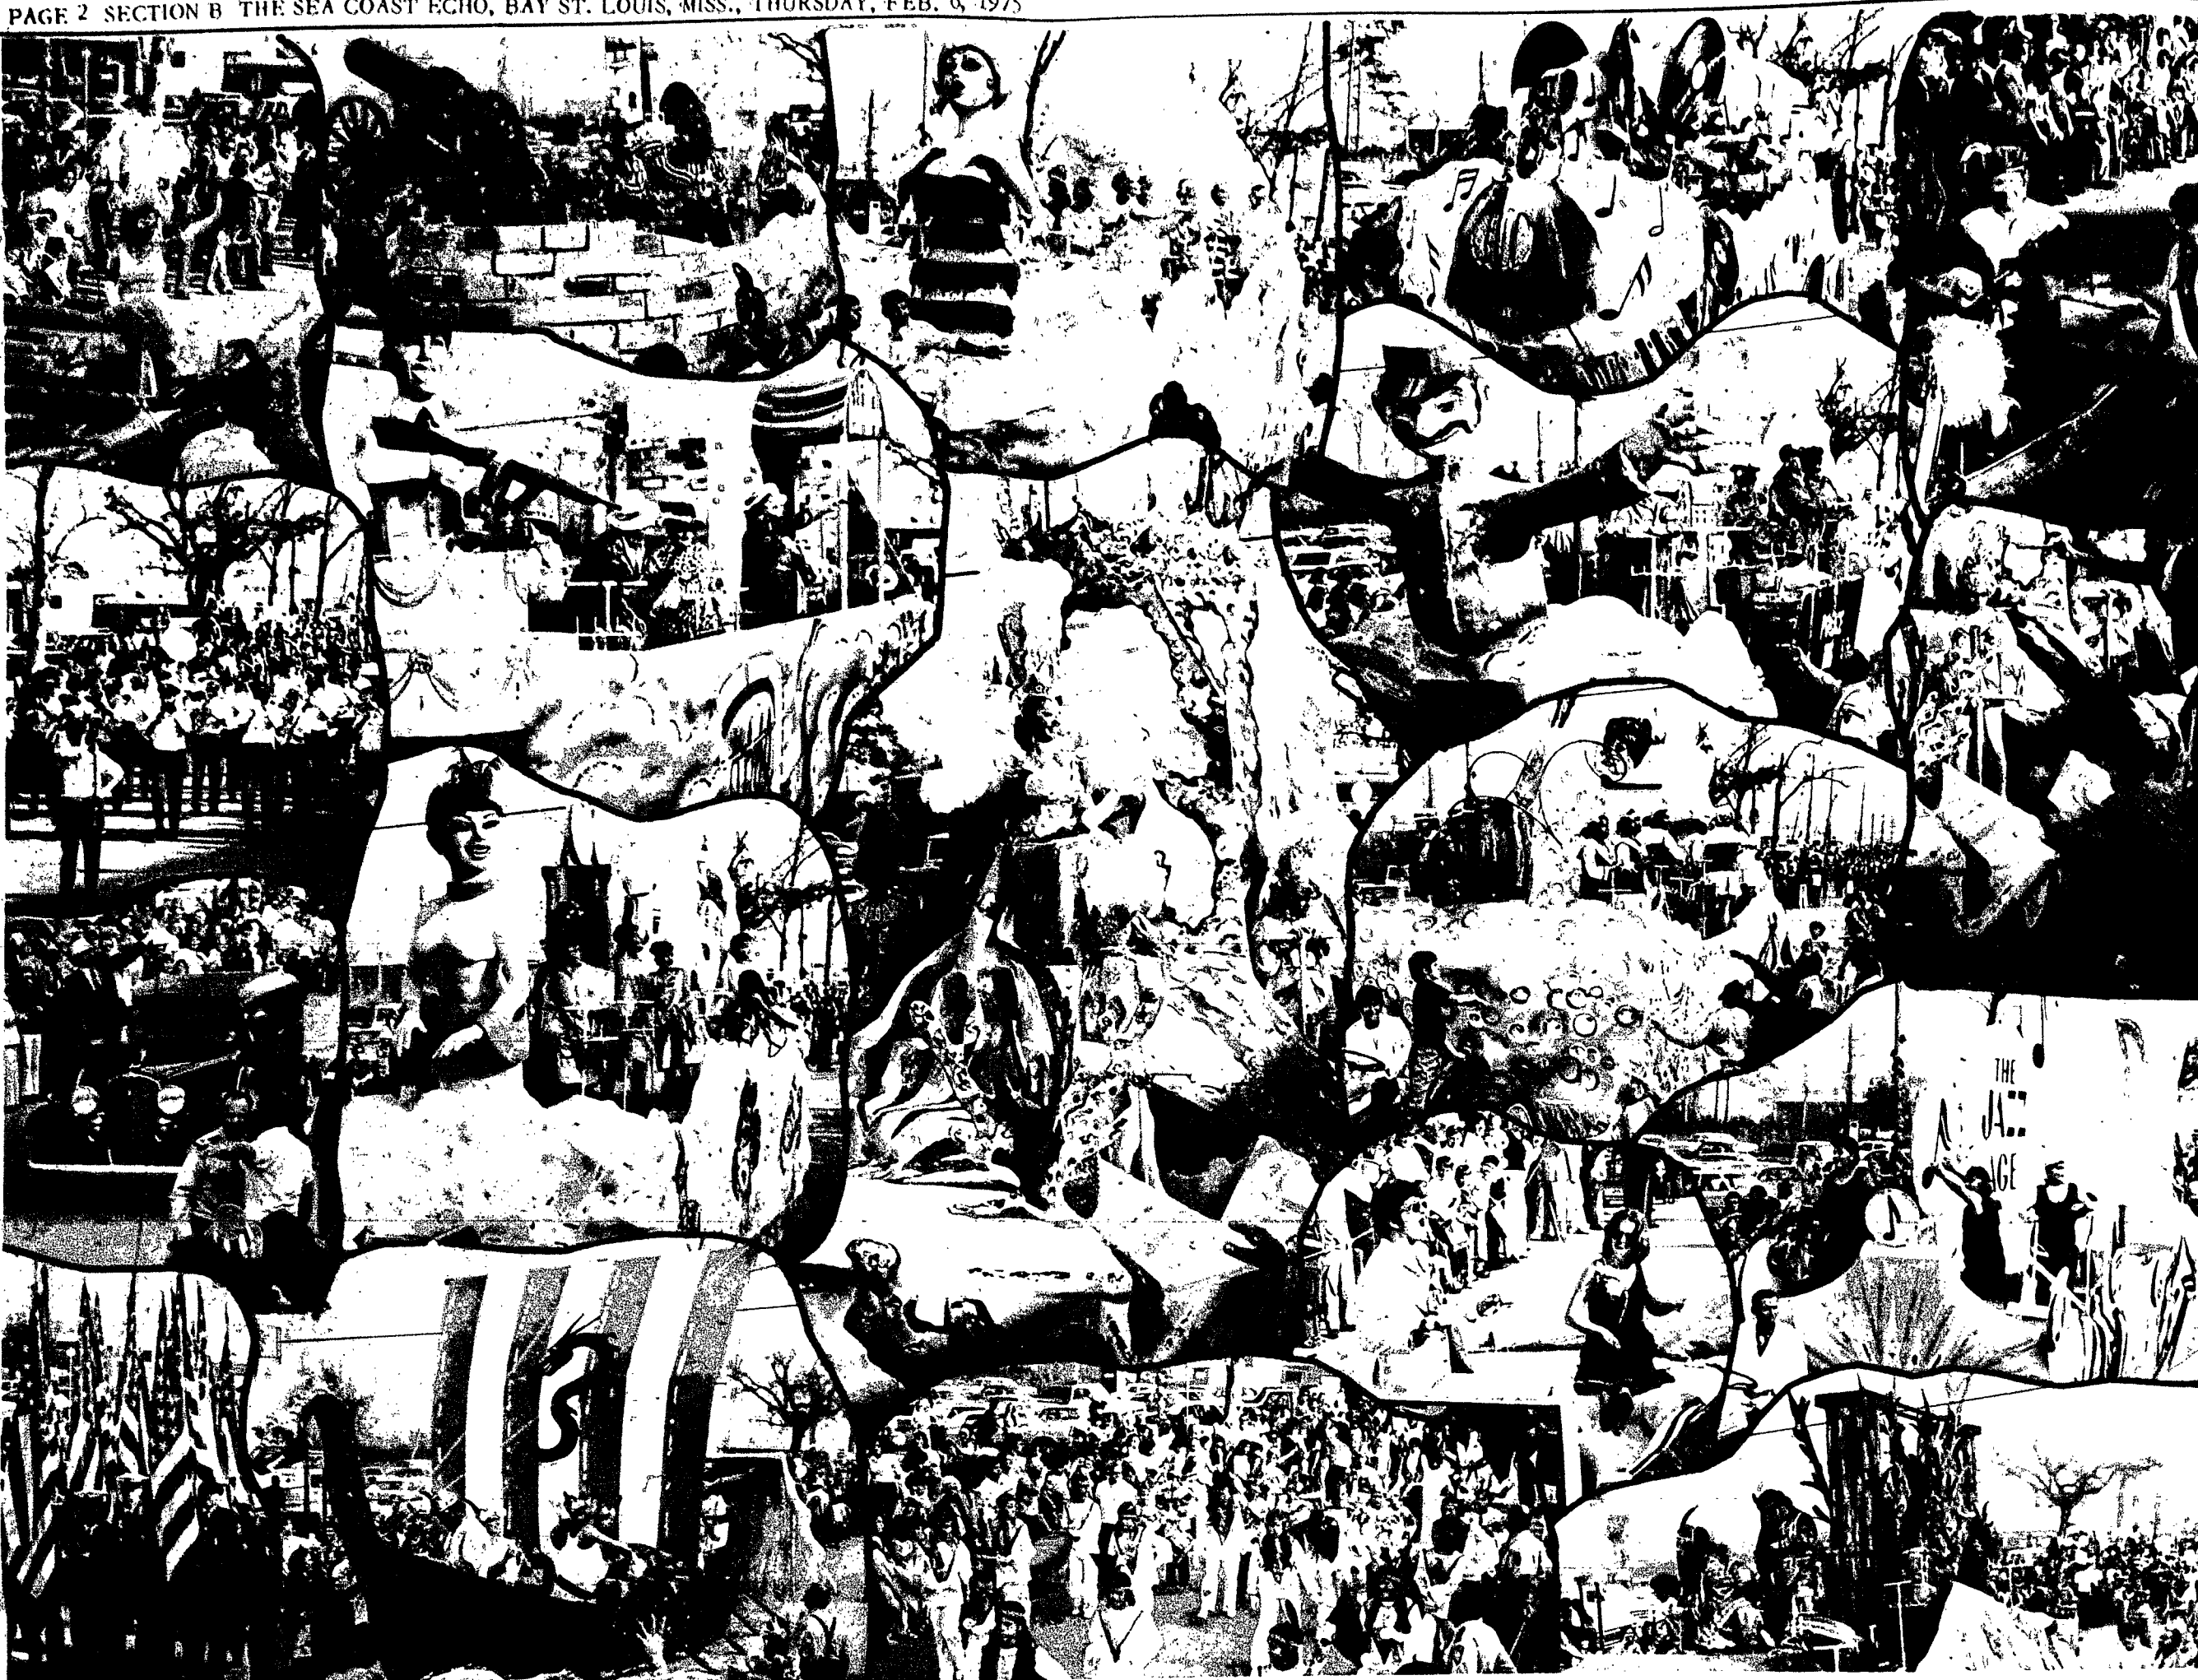

General dancing will follow the first two dances which will be reserved for the court.

Nereids parades for Waveland crowds

Grand Marshall Eric Tracy

The Krewe of Nereids took to the streets of Waveland Sunday, Feb. 2, in a pageant depicting the "Jazz Age" of the 1920's. The 59-unit parade included floats recalling familiar scenes from the roaring '20's such as the "Stars of the Silver Screen," "The Flappers," "Speakeasies," "Bathub Gin," and "The Charleston."

Leading the parade was Queen Doris IX riding on a throne of red coral surrounded by blue and pink ocean waves. She wore a gown of white and gold studded with rhinestones and a white plumed mantle and headdress.

Scattered among the floats were the maid's floats, a new addition to Nereids. The six maids, dressed in blue and white, were presented on blue floats as the Ziegfeld girls. King Nereus IX, David Johnson, toasted the queen from the reviewing stand on Coleman Ave. Mayor John Longo of Waveland also greeted the queen as she passed the city hall reviewing stand.

Eric Tracy, of WWL radio in New Orleans, followed the Nereids Band Wagon as Grand Marshal in a blue convertible. He was accompanied by his wife.

Music for the krewe was provided by several local bands and marching groups. The Keesler Air Force Band came first in the procession, and they were followed by Bay High School, St. Clare Marching Precision Group, Sumrall Attendance Center, Coast Episcopal Precision Marching Group, Hancock North Central, St. Stanislaus High School, Pearl River Central High School, Pearl River Junior College, St. Martin High School, and Gulf Coast Shriners.

All of the Nereids floats were designed with moving parts depicting flappers, gangsters and law officers. The floats were designed in New Orleans.

Following the krewe of Nereids was the krewe of Eros. Eros presented floats of Indian braves, buccanniers, Spanish senoritas and gypsies. The children in the krewe also had a float with their favorite characters from Sesame Street. Sacred Heart All Girl Band and the Gulfport Mounted Posse marched in the Eros procession.

Pass Pirates sweep conference tournament

The Pass High Pirates swept both the boys' and the girls' divisions in the Pascagoula River Conference Basketball Tournament Saturday night. The boys team won all three of its games by a grand total of five points, and the girls squeezed past their opposition in almost the same fashion.

Wayne Bradley and Bruce Cuevas each hit for 17 points to lead the Pirates to a 69-68 overtime win over the St. John Eagles in the finals. Pat Prejean of St. John was the game's high scorer with 22. The Pirates built up a 69-64 lead with less than 1:30 left in the overtime period, but the Eagles closed the gap to 69-68 with four seconds left. When Pass Christian missed on a free throw attempt that would have iced the game, Pat McNally of St. John grabbed the rebound and was fouled by Bruce Cuevas at the buzzer, giving the Eagles a chance to win the game with two free throws.

But the Pirates, who had won two earlier contests at the free throw line, won again when McNally missed the front end of the one-and-one situation.

The preceding night, in a game Pirate Coach Dale

Moran called "the highlight of my coaching career," the Pirates upset top-seeded St. Stanislaus, 62-59.

Moran had predicted earlier that his team, which had lost twice to the Rocks the week before, would "stick it to the Rocks," and the fired-up Pirates lived up to Moran's expectations by jumping out to a 15-6 first quarter lead. But the Rocks, led by the 14 point second quarter effort of Robert Smith, pulled ahead 31-27 at the half.

The Pirates finally regained the lead late in the third quarter and pulled ahead 53-47 in the fourth quarter when Henry Malley hit on two straight long shots.

Smith brought the Pirates back into the game in the closing minutes with clutch baskets, but Pirate Jack Ulrich hit two free throws that clinched the game.

"Ulrich was the man," Moran said after the game. "His 10 straight points in the third quarter kept us in the game right at the point when it looked like the Rocks were moving."

Coach Bob Cuccaro of St. Stanislaus said after the game that his team was beaten on the boards and failed to get the percentage shots.

One of the major reasons for the breakdown in the Rocks' strategy was that Will Marler, the Rocks top rebounder, sat on the bench most of the game with four fouls he drew in the first half. The Rocks' strategy in earlier games had called for getting the ball in to Marler.

Marler fouled out of the game without scoring.

Robert Smith of the Rocks led all scorers with 24 points, and Henry Malley led the Pirates with 19.

Pass High beat Vancleave 33-52 in its first game of the tournament when Robin Malley hit on one of two crucial free throws with just 18 seconds left.

Vancleave Coach Anthony Ladner tried to unnerve the Pirates top rebounder by calling a timeout before each of the shots. Malley missed the first one but hit the second.

The Bulldogs tried to score in the final seconds, but the Pirates' press disrupted the Vancleave strategy and Jeff Roebuck had to try a long desperation shot that missed its mark.

The Pirates had fallen behind 8-0 at the start of the game but fought back to claim a 30-24 halftime lead.

Hancock North Central School, which had advanced to the second round on the strength of a 57-51 win over St. Martin, was eliminated in the semi-finals by St. John 83-72.

Connie Winstead of Pass High, the tournament MVP in the girls bracket (Robert Smith of St. Stanislaus was the boys' MVP), led the Pirates to its second straight girls title.

In the first round, Connie Winstead scored 16 points and grabbed 11 rebounds in Pass High's win over Vancleave. Then in a semi-finals meeting with the tournament favorite St. Martin girls, she stole the ball with less than 20 seconds left in the game and hit on a five-footer that gave the Pirates a 26-24 upset victory. Ella Ladner and Connie Winstead shared the game's scoring honors with 10 points each.

In the finals, Connie Winstead paced the Pirates with 19 points in the 53-49 overtime win over D'Iberville. Ella Ladner of Pass High added 18.

Jan Barager and Ruth James led the losers with 12 points apiece.

The Hancock North Central Hawkettes, who defeated St. John 57-31 in early round action, were eliminated by D'Iberville 58-55 in the semi-finals.

All-conference selections for the boys were as follows: Roosevelt Wells and Jeff Roebuck of Vancleave; Benny Ladner, Jack Lewis, and Guy Necaise of Hancock North Central; Robert Smith, Chuck Genin, and Will Marler of St. Stanislaus; Wayne Bradley and Robin Malley of Pass High; Pat Prejean and Kerry Johnson of St. John; Antonio Hugar of Notre Dame; Joe Reddix of D'Iberville; and Brian Seymour of St. Martin.

The girls all-conference selections were as follows: Helen Meaut, Marylyn Powe, and Shari Wronko of St. Martin; Lanette Randall, Sharon Ladner, and Natalie Malley of Hancock North Central; Ruth James and Cheryl Clark of D'Iberville; Connie Winstead and Lena Dedaux of Pass High; Mary Harris and Sissy Faulk of Vancleave; Brenda Clark of East Central; Mary-Seymour of St. John; and Denise Dougherty of Sacred Heart.

PRC loses, 59-54

The Pearl River Junior College girls basketball team lost to Gulf Coast, the 1974 national runner-up, last week, 59-54; however, head coach James Barnes called it their best performance of the season.

Down by 10 points at intermission, the girl eagles came back in the second half, behind the shooting of Suzanne Sims and Jo Ann Dawsey to close that gap to just two.

Perk quickly added a three point play to move ahead by five with 4:40 remaining. The Gulf Coast girls then pumped in two more baskets to give them a nine point spread.

PRC scored four points in the last seconds only to lose 59-54.

Wildcat scorers included Jo Ann Dawsey with 22 points, Kathy Eaves 13, and Suzanne Sims with 10.

Pearl River will meet Meridian here February 6, in their last regular scheduled game. The contest begins at 6:00 p.m.

Rebel guard stands tall among leaders

No measuring stick can accurately gauge the "height" of Ole Miss senior guard Dave Shepherd. But you had better clarify "height" when sizing up the Rebel ace — whether it be in basketball success or physical stature.

The diminutive sharpshooter, currently the hottest backcourt performer in the Southeastern Conference, stretches his 5-10 frame to almost astronomical highs and feats every time he takes to the court.

His recent display against Mississippi State was no exception.

The peppery Shepherd zeroed in on 15 of 28 field goals and earned all six free pitches for 36 points. Add to that six rebounds, three assists, a like number of recoveries, four steals and a blocked shot. It all makes for a good night's work for any pint-sized operator.

Not only were the 36 points a team high for the season but also Shepherd's own collegiate zenith, and the most points cached in a contest since the Johnny Neumann days of 1971.

Bidding to become the Rebels' first All-Conference guard since Donnie Kessinger in 1962-63-64, Shepherd is the second top scoring guard in the league, lodged behind Auburn's Eddie Johnson who led the loop in scoring last winter.

Renowned for his distant bombings, Shepherd has continued his amazing double-figure skein with more recent outings against Vanderbilt (15) points and Georgia (20 points). He has now scored in double figures in his last 22 games, a streak that dates back to the 1974 campaign.

If the slick ball handler and fluid driller can maintain his present pace, he will bypass two of Kessinger's seasonal totals, 516 points in 1964 and 501 in 1963.

At his current rate, Shepherd will close at 520 points, the most since Neumann's 923 and Kessinger's 536 points.

If the pesky gunner continues his ever-phenomenal floor performances, his offensive potion may prove just the proper dosage to salvage a respectable season for the Rebels.

Farve leads Tigers

over Pearl River

The Bay High School Tigers led by a hot-handed Allison Farve with 30 points, overpowered the Pearl River Blue Devils 74-52 Tuesday night at Poplarville. The win gave the young Tiger squad under Coach Mike Necaise a 12-10 record and iced the Tiger's first winning season since 1967.

Pearl River's Tim Posey was leading scorer for the Blue Devils.

The Tigers who open District VIII play next Thursday night at Pearl River Junior College in Poplarville will meet Brooklyn High School of Forrest County in the main event at 8:45 p.m. The Bay High Tigerets will play Purvis in a 7:30 p.m. match.

In other action, Pass High will play Purvis in District VIII Wednesday at 8:45 p.m. with the girls playing Poplarville at 7:30 p.m.

Also on Wednesday, Hancock North Central girls will play Brooklyn at 5 p.m. with the HNC boys meeting Poplarville at 6:15 p.m.

Pass wins two more

The Pass High Pirates, coming off a Pascagoula River Conference Tournament sweep, defeated the Vancleave Bulldogs twice Tuesday night.

In the boys' game, Robin Malley led the Pirates to a 66-60 overtime win. Malley led all scorers with 18 points. Roosevelt Wells of Vancleave totaled 17 points. Jack Ulrich and Wayne Bradley contributed 14 and 12 points respectively to the Pirates' scoring attack.

The Pirates trailed 29-25 at the half but outscored the Bulldogs 15-10 in the third quarter to take a 40-39 lead. The Pirates now stand 17-7 on the year.

In the girls' game, Connie Winstead scored 22 points to lead the Pirates to a 50-45 come-from-behind win. Ella Ladner scored 19 points for the Pirates. Mary Harris led the Bulldogs with 14.

The Vancleave girls held a 22-20 halftime lead before bowing out in the second half.

Pass High will host the Bay High Tigers Friday at 7 p.m.

Bicycle safety declines

Bikes are beautiful, but the lack of bicycle safety is not so pretty.

Recently a 16-year-old girl was killed in Fairport, N.Y., when her bicycle collided with another two-wheeler. About that time economists were predicting that by 1980 bicycles would outnumber cars on U.S. roads for the first time since Harry Ford introduced the Model T about 60 years ago.

The resurgence of bicycle popularity, while it is a healthy sign for the prospect that Americans can begin cutting back on motor fuel, nevertheless underlines a lot of safety problems.

Last year, U.S. bike sales of 15.8 million topped auto sales for the first time since the American motorist began his love affair with the car.

The U.S. Bicycle Institute says 80 million bikes are on the road, compared to 101.5 million autos.

The fact that bicycle safety programs aren't keeping pace with sales is reflected in the statistics which show bicycle deaths to be increasing faster than any category of highway fatalities.

An estimated 1,250 cyclists were killed last year in bicycle accidents. Injury estimates range all the way from the National Safety Council's 40,000 to the U.S. Consumer Products Safety Commission's one million. And the average age of bike deaths is going up as more and more adults take to two wheels. About half of all new bikes are bought and used by adults.

Perhaps the most concerned observer of the bicycle safety scene is the Highway Users Federation, a nonprofit group promoting traffic safety and highway efficiency for anything on wheels and pedestrians as well.

Robert M. Calvin, a traffic safety educator and the federation's youth safety program manager, says one of the big problems is convincing bicyclists that, like motorists, they also are bound by traffic rules.

"Statistics suggest that in three out of four collisions with motor vehicles, the cyclist violated a rule of the road at the time of the accident," he points out.

He emphasizes the need for stiffer laws and ordinances governing bike traffic.

Lack of uniform rules of the road for bikes, Calvin says, only creates confusion. He cites these examples:

Thirty-two states require cyclists to ride as near the right edge of the roadway as possible. The rest have no such law.

Thirty states allow cyclists to ride two abreast; the District of Columbia allows it under safe conditions and three states — Massachusetts, New Jersey and Wisconsin — require cyclists to ride single file. The rest have no rule one way or the other.

Calvin says improved law enforcement by police, accident reporting and bike safety education are other "musts" for a widened bicycle safety program.

As the bike boom continues upward, he warns, highway planners and traffic engineers will have to make room for safe, nonmotorized movement along and across major traffic arteries.

Many large cities already are providing bike paths which are off limits to motorists. But these usually are along roadways in parks and other recreation areas.

The bicycle is becoming a transportation mode for the worker along with the recreation seeker. So the cyclist must be protected somehow on business thoroughfares as well as on parkways.

Wildcats claim

second place

The Pearl River Junior College Wildcats regained their winning ways last week, winning three away games, to take over sole possession of second place in the Southern Division.

Pearl River regained their composure after a pair of losses the previous week and nailed Carey's Junior Varsity, 97-75; Jones 77-73 and Gulf Coast 92-88 in overtime.

The Wildcats, once tied for the lead before losing to Co-Lin and Southwest in succession, slipped back into second place after the Southwest Bears lost two squeakers to Hinds and Utica.

Johnny (Po-Jay) Woodland continued to be the big gun for the Wildcats as he poured in a season high of 38 points against the Perk Bulldogs. He

Harrison Central wins conference titles

The Harrison Central Red Rebels and Rebelettes continued their dominance over the Gulf Coast Conference with a tournament sweep of the boys' and girls' divisions.

The Red Rebels demolished the Ocean Springs Greyhounds 104-57 in the finals to claim the boys' crown. Five players scored in the double figures for the Red Rebels with David MacKay leading the field with 20 points. Larr Platt scored 13 points for the losing Greyhounds.

Harrison Central was in command all the way, building up a 46-23 halftime lead and increasing it to 80-51 at the end of the third quarter.

In earlier tournament action, the Bay High Tigers lost to Harrison Central 90-52 after edging past Long Beach 66-64 in the first round.

Alliston Favre scored 25 points to lead the Tigers to the win. Steve Simpson scored 18 for Long Beach.

In the girls' bracket, Harrison Central won its seventh straight game over the Long Beach Bearkittens, 49-42. The Bearkittens had lost to Harrison Central in the finals of the Bay High tournament the week before by a similar score of 45-40.

Doris Haskins led the Red Rebelettes with 16 points. Debbie Boyd got 16 for Long Beach.

The Tigerettes lost in the first round to Harrison Central 42-39. Doris Haskins scored 15 points to lead all scorers.

Monroe, and Wendall Tigerettes with 11.

Hancock Riders Win Trophies

Three members of the Hancock Riding Club walked away with the year-end trophies from the neighboring Steep Hollow Riding Club.

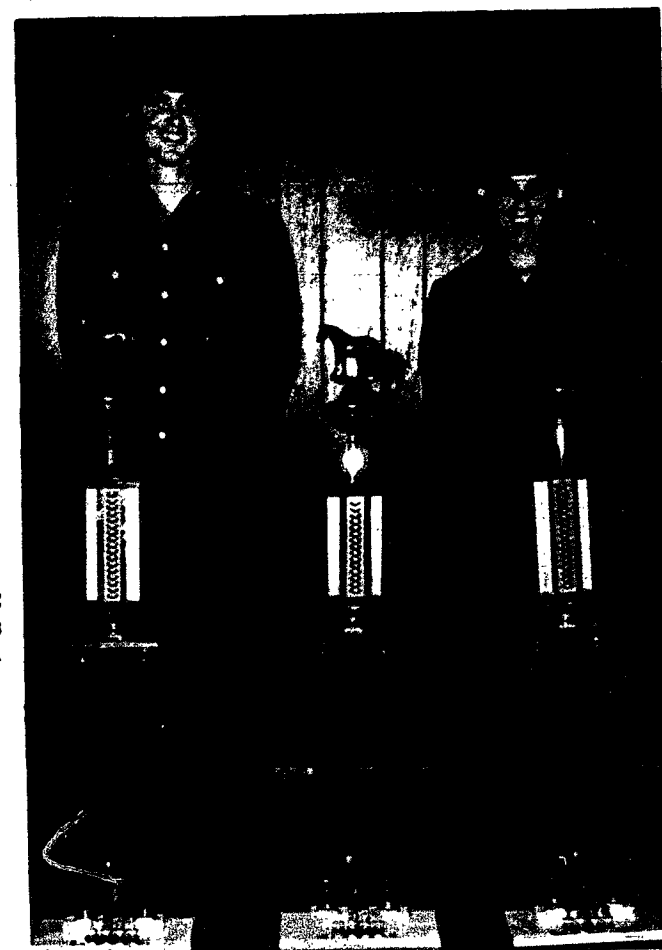

Chip Lee, son of Mr. and Mrs. David Lee, won the 12-years-old-and-under Youth Trophy. Billy Wayne Ladner, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Guilbeau, won the 13-18 Youth Trophy, and Edwin Ladner won the Men's Trophy. They each earned their trophies by accumulating the most points during the 1974 horse show season at the Steep Hollow Club Arena.

The Hancock Riding Club and the Steep Hollow Riding Club are members of the South Mississippi Riding and Rodeo Association, which sponsors western riding competition for its members throughout the year.

Anyone wishing to join the Hancock Riding Club should contact Ronnie Guilbeau at 255-7468. Meetings are held the first Tuesday of each month at the VFW, Kiln.

Proud Winners

Edwin Ladner and Chip Lee won year-end trophies from the Steep Hollow Riding Club for accumulating the most points during the 1974 horse show season.

BASIS OF AWARD

The award or awards, if made, will be made to the lowest qualified bidder on the basis of the published quantities on each individual road. Plans and Specifications are on file in the office of the County Engineer of Hancock County, at Piquette, Mississippi, and the office of the Chancery Clerk at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi. Plans and proposals may be secured from the County Engineer at P.O. Box 135, Piquette, Mississippi, upon payment of $15.00 which will not be refunded.

Certified check or bid bond for five percent of total bid payable to Hancock County must accompany each proposal. Bidders may bid on any or all of the proposed roads.

The Board reserves the right to reject any or all bids. Certified check or bid bond will be returned immediately to unsuccessful bidders. Bidders are hereby notified that any proposal accompanied by letters qualifying in any manner, the condition under which the proposal is tendered will be considered an irregular bid and such proposals will not be considered in making the award.

A performance bond in the full amount of the contract will be required of the successful bidder or bidders on Roads 4 and 6. The bid bond on Roads 1, 2, 3, 5 and 7 will be held, in lieu of a performance bond, until the work is satisfactorily completed.

The contracts will be required to pay wages in accordance with and meet other conditions of the Davis-Bacon Act, and to meet conditions of employment under applicable laws.

Attention is called to the fact that contracts exceeding $25,000 require contractors to be licensed under applicable laws of the State of Mississippi and have a Certificate of Responsibility.

TRUSTEE'S NOTICE OF SALE

WHEREAS, on October 29, 1970, Dennis J. Tartavouille and wife, Cynthia Tartavouille, executed a deed of trust to O.B. Taylor, Jr., Trustee for the benefit of Kimbrough Investment Company, which deed of trust is recorded in Deed of Trust Book 148 at page 368 in the office of the Chancery Clerk of Hancock County, State of Mississippi; and

WHEREAS, default having been made in the terms and conditions of said deed of trust and the entire debt secured thereby, having been declared to be due and payable in accordance with the terms of said deed of trust, and the legal holder of said indebtedness, Kimbrough Investment Company, having requested the undersigned trustee to execute the trust and sell said land and property in accordance with the terms of said deed of trust for the purpose of raising the sums due thereunder, together with attorney's fees, trustee's fees and expense of sale.

NOW THEREFORE, I, O.B. Taylor, Jr., Trustee in said deed of trust, will on the 14th day of February, 1975, offer for sale at public outcry, and sell within legal hours, (being between the hours of 11:00 A.M. and 4:00 P.M.), at the front door of the County Court House of the County of Hancock, at Bay St. Louis, Mississippi, as per map or plat thereof on file and of record

Sunday was Mardi Gras Day in Waveland, with King Nereus IX holding his annual parade. Despite the fog the weather was warm and a great crowd lined the parade route. Several parties were held at different homes after the parade.

Many fishermen stayed home from fishing to be with their families. Don't think they missed much as the water was on the dirty side.

A few small speckles were caught off the highway bridge during the end of the week, also some flounders by those fishing on the bottom with dead shrimp.

Another way to get 'em is by dragging the hook, fixed with a piece of pork rind.

As the weather gets warmer and the water warms up, the bass and perch will begin to hit surface baits. They are also being caught by still fishing with worm's minnows, tad poles, and small crayfish.

Stumbled over Pat Fanning and Bill Toomey in Waveland Sunday. These young men, along with Pat Haggerty, do quite a bit of fishing over in Louisiana and want to try their luck over here.

There are plenty fish on the coast, if you know how to catch 'em.

Also met Don Leech of Waveland and Larry Pouca from Atlanta, Ga. They do most any kind of fishing but love to catch "them old cat fish." In fact, they gave us a few lessons. Cat fish is excellent eating when prepared properly. They'll take any kind of bait.

Among those celebrating the Mardi Gras were Gene Domain, Al Champayne, Archie Dibold, and Bud Thomas.

Buford Parker is another ardent fisherman. He loves to catch them off the American Legion Pier. Says some fish can be caught there most any old time. Agree with you, Buford, and its easy to get to. No boat needed. Just fish off the pier.

Had a nice day at Tide-water last Thursday with Father Wm. Collins, O.D., Emerson from Hattiesburg, Emile Bertucci, III, "Miss Shirley", and of course Dr. Bertucci. Almost missed saying Ray Garner was with us.

Doc promised us he is coming over to go fishing with us as soon as he can. "All work and no play makes Jack a dull boy, Doc."

Don't hear much from Brother Perre about fishing, oystering, crabbing, etc. Water must not be right. When they are there, he gets them. He's one of the best when it comes to catching all kinds of seafood. His fishing partner is Horace Farr.

Had a good time Sunday visiting with Bill Stewart and Bobby after the parade in Waveland. It was a real get-together with friends.

It is a good thing to try different baits when fishing. Fish are not as dumb as one thinks. They have their likes and dislikes, just like us.

Wally Roberts does mostly fresh water fishing and goes after bass and perch. Said he has been getting some nice ones. Wally said he also reads "Kantcha Ketchum" each week. Thanks, Pardon.

Carrie Rogues and her husband Floyd expect to do a lot of fishing come April when he gets a vacation. "Going everyday," said Carrie.

Was quite a pleasure meeting Ames Russ from Poplarville. He stated that he has always fished and always will. Strictly a salt water fisherman. Has a nice boat which he shares with his friends. Catches fish, too.

Gene Lueder from Nicholson was down and paid me a visit. Making plans to do some real bass fishing this summer. Says he knows where they are.

Glad to see our fishing buddy, Alden Mauffray, out again after his operation. Doing fine. Waiting for his doctor to give him the go sign to go fishing.

Seems like all the old hunters are going back to fishing since most hunting seasons are over. One of them is Dick Mestayer. Called me the other night. Told me he has a new place to get them. Hope he's right. Gonna try it.

Tanya, Tommy, and Donnie grandchildren of Shirley and Joe (Shep) Richardson welcome a new member into their family. Ian Wayne who was born on January 23rd in West Berlin, Germany. Although they are too young to fish or hunt like their dad, their favorite sport is pool. And why not!!! They all teached on cue sticks and their favorite dish is Grandma's delicious stuffed crabs.

The newcomer's mother is the former Linda K. Richardson. Yours Truly baby-sat many times for Linda while her Mom and Dad went out fishing.

SPORTSMAN OF THE WEEK - James E. Byrd, mayor of Poplarville, is an excellent fisherman. He comes down quite often to see his buddy Bill Stewart and fish in this neck of the woods.

Junior High girls beat Hawkettes

The Bay Junior High Tigerettes won the Pearl River Central Junior High Basketball Tournament by trouncing Hancock North Central 27-16 Saturday night.

The leading scorer for the Tigerettes was Andrea Favre with nine points. Charlene Haynes added another eight points to the Tigerette cause.

The Tigerettes now stand 11-7 on the season.

Deadline for applications is Feb. 9.

Pearl River reports record enrollments

Pearl River Junior College's 1974 fall enrollment was the largest in the schools 65 year history, Enoch Seal Jr., dean of instruction, announced today.

After complete first semester tabulations, 2,341 students were recorded as attending PRC at one of the three campuses. The Poplarville campus enrolled 1,551 students, with the Hattiesburg center serving 550 and the Hancock facility enrolling 240 students.

The final count, according to Seal included full and part-time students in the academic, vocational and technical areas. However, numerous one and two day mini courses were not tallied in the final total.

Spring semester enrollment figures are incomplete at this time, but the total is expected to be quite higher than the spring semester of a year ago.

Dean Seal said he was convinced the increase came because of the students turning to the more economical education route, which they can obtain from a junior college, and because of the number of adults that are returning to learn a specific trade.

"We are doing our best to give Pearl River district students a top quality education at a minimum of cost," Seal said. "I think it took the current economic condition for many of them to finally realize what we had to offer," he said.

Bay native leads Pan-Am candidates

By David Pierson
Bay St. Louis has its own athlete of national stature. He is Joseph (Doc) Rhodes, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nelius Rhodes, and one of the leading qualifiers for the Pan-American games this April. His powerlifting total of 1,390 pounds at the New Year's Open in Chattanooga is just 40 pounds off the world record and, more importantly, is the highest total turned in this year in the 148-pound class.

Doc Rhodes, a graduate of St. Stanislaus High School, is a four-time national champion. In 1969, while attending USM, he won the NCAA powerlifting championships. The following year he claimed both the junior and senior national AAU championships in his weight class. And again in 1973, he won the senior AAU championships. Among other honors he has received is two-time AAU athlete of the year (1970 and 1973).

Powerlifting, an event that is not widely-known in sports circles, consists of three different weightlifting feats — the bench press, the squat, and the dead lift. The bench press calls for the lifter to pick up the weight and hold it above his head while he is lying on his back. In the squat, the lifter must bear the weights on his shoulders while he completes the squat. And in the dead lift, he must pick the weight up from the floor and stand erect with it.

Doc Rhodes can do all three better than most competitors can do any one. "Most lifters have a strong suit," said a companion lifter of Doc's, "and they have lifts that give them trouble. But Doc is good at all three events. That's what makes him so hard to beat."

When asked if he felt he had a strong suit, Doc said his best event is the dead lift. Interestingly, he did not mention the bench press, the event in which he held the 1972 world meet record in the 165-pound class.

According to the national AAU rules, each lifter is given seven lifts. He has two chances to achieve his best lift in each of the three events, and he has a "wild-card" lift which means he can take a third lift in any one of the three events.

In the recent New Year's Open, Doc Rhodes lifted 330 pounds in the bench press, 460 pounds in the squat, and 600 pounds (or four times his weight) in the dead lift. His total of 1,390 pounds was far ahead of the rest of the competitors in his class (the second-place finisher compiled a total of 1,220).

If that stands as the highest total in the 148 pound class through March 1, Doc Rhodes will be representing the United States in the Pan-American games. But several lifters are out to top that mark, and among them is Doc himself. He is presently working out in the St. Stanislaus gym four days a week in preparation for the Mississippi State Powerlifting Championships to be held March 1 at St. Stanislaus. Doc hopes to total 1,410 pounds at the event.

Having noted that Rhodes once competed in the 165-pound class but is now competing in the 148-pound class, the observant reader may ask why he dropped down a class.

The reason is that on Christmas Eve 1973, Doc Rhodes tore a cartilage in his right knee. After surgery, he noticed that he was still over compensating for the knee by placing more strain on the other side. The problem was that he had a spinal birth defect and the extra weight and strain placed on that area of his back was dangerous.

"I had to reduce to the 148's (class) because the less weight I lifted, the less demand there would be on my back," says Rhodes. "There was no way to strengthen my back because the back injury was a structural-type injury, the bone structure will not strengthen, no matter how much I build up the muscles around it."

Last September Doc Rhodes started on a diet that helped him lose 24 pounds in eight weeks so that he could compete in the lower class. Then in early November, he traveled to Fort Worth, Texas and won the TCU Open. His totals were high enough to qualify him for the world championships, but he decided against it because the loss of weight made him feel he couldn't compete.

Doc Rhodes's competitive spirit also showed itself in an earlier event when he won his fourth national championship. In the 1973 AAU powerlifting championships in Scranton, Pennsylvania, Rhodes, who was still in the 165-pound class, dropped 365 pounds on his chest while attempting the bench press.

He dressed in his street clothes and, before going to the hospital for X-rays, stopped at the scorer's table to withdraw from competition. While there he watched his nearest competitor pull his top dead lift, and Rhodes then realized he would need to dead lift only 605 pounds to win the title.

He quickly re-dressed in his lift clothes, returned to the platform, and lifted the 605 pounds. But the strain of the lift on his badly bruised ribs took its toll. While placing the weights down, he passed out, and opened a gash across his forehead that required 15 stitches.

At five feet, seven inches, Doc Rhodes looks nothing like the popular image of a musclebound weightlifter. In fact, Rhodes is highly critical of public misconception of weightlifters and powerlifters.

"Most people think that powerlifters are a bunch of meatheads," says Rhodes. "But this is a sport with a lot of scientific principles. I don't come in here every day and see how much I can lift."

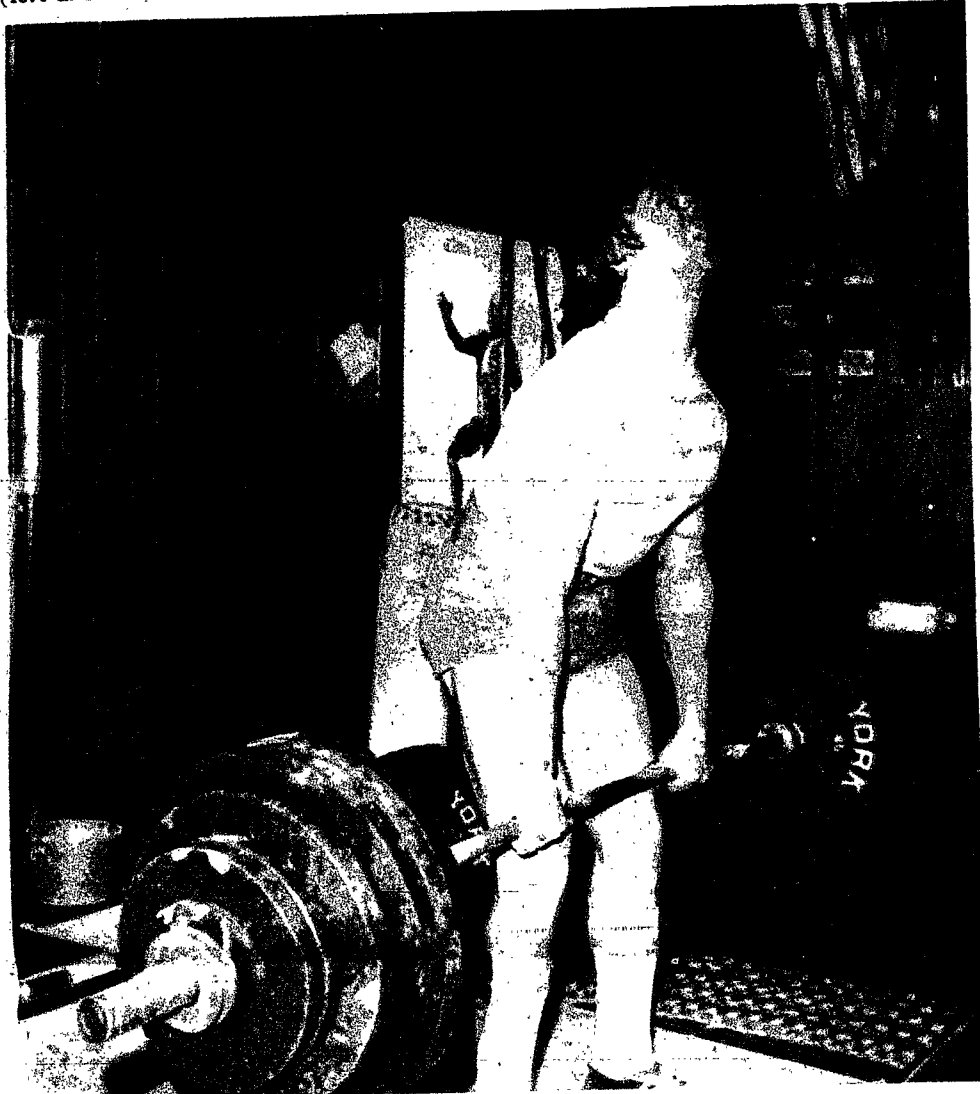

To the contrary, Rhodes has an exercise routine that strengthens each of the muscles used in each of the lifts. On the day he was interviewed, Rhodes was practicing his squat with less weight on the bars and a more closed stance. The reason, he said, was to strengthen certain back muscles that would be used in competition.

Rhodes trains at 154 pounds and before each event takes a dehydrating pill that helps him lose the necessary weight to compete in the 148-pound class. His high-protein diet includes vitamin supplements

B, C, and E, as well as desiccated liver and large amounts of potassium. Two days before each event, he switches to a high-carbohydrate diet for the extra energy.

May 2, he plans to enter the Chattanooga Open with hopes of surpassing the world record total of 1,430 pounds. And though he estimates that he can eventually reach 1,500 pounds, Doc appears very humble when speaking about accomplishments. And that is something which should make his followers in Bay St. Louis very proud.

Dead lift

Rhodes, a leading candidate for the 148-pound powerlifting event in the Pan-American games this April, barely shows strain here as he dead lifts in the St. Stanislaus weight training room.

Squat

Rhodes' tremendous leg strength is demonstrated in the leg squat, an event in which Rhodes lifted 460 pounds in the New Year's Open in Chattanooga, Tennessee recently.

New Orleans Symphony to combine 40th anniversary with Bicentennial

The New Orleans Philharmonic-Symphony Orchestra will observe its 40th anniversary with the 1975-76 season and at the same time dedicate the 1976 half of the season to the Bicentennial Celebration of the United States of America. The new subscription season will open with concerts on September 23rd and 24th. There will be 17 performances on Tuesdays at 8:30 p.m. and 17 performances on Wednesdays at 7:30 p.m. in the New Orleans Theatre of the Performing Arts.

"We have assembled a power-house of musical attractions to mark this double-feast!" said Symphony music director Werner Torkanowsky.

"All our visiting artists in the 1976 portion of season, except one guest conductor, will be Americans and they are led by the distinguished and popular soprano Beverly Sills," said Torkanowsky.

"Another American in '76 will be Eugene Fodor, the young Colorado violinist who took second prize in Moscow's Tchaikovsky Competition and is causing box office stampedes reminiscent of Van Cliburn."

Andre Watts, 28-year-old American "supervirtuoso" who made his debut with the New York Philharmonic when he was sixteen will perform concerti by American composers MacDowell and Ger-shwin at the Symphony's Final pair of subscription concerts in May of '76.

Planiat Jeffrey Swann, a 23-year-old Texan, is also in the '76 portion of the coming Symphony season. Swann took "Best of the Competition" at the Warsaw Chopin Competition when he was 18, then two years later won the Gold Medal in the 1972 Queen Elisabeth of Belgium International Competition.

Sarah Caldwell, venturesome impresario-director-conductor, will be on the New Orleans podium in February of 1976, as will Georg Semkow, the distinguished Polish conductor who serves as Principal Guest Conductor of the London Philharmonic Orchestra and Permanent Conductor of both the Royal Opera and Royal Danish Orchestra in Copenhagen.

American cellist Stephen Kates will present the New Orleans premiere of a new cello concerto by New York born Claus Adam, cellist with the Juilliard Quartet, in January of 1976. Kates has performed with such orchestras as the Boston Symphony, the New York Philharmonic and the Chicago Symphony. He was a silver medal winner in the 1966 International Tchaikovsky Cello Competition.

Beverly Sills the "empress of American sopranos" will be featured in April of 1976. Miss Sills is the only singer ever to have been featured in cover-stories in both Time and Newsweek, and to have been additionally the subject of a New Yorker profile. She is a frequent guest on TV and as Honorary National Chairman of Mothers' March on Birth Defects, makes numerous appearances in its behalf.

"The 1975 portion of next season," said Torkanowsky, "is not letting the '76 portion steal the spotlight."

"Isaac Stern, one of the world's greatest violinists, will join the New Orleans Symphony for the first time since December of 1969. Stern has lived in the United States since he was an infant and is really as American as apple pie. However, he was born in Russia."

The Romeros - Celedonio, Pepe, Celin and Angel - internationally famed family of guitarists from Spain will appear with the New Orleans Symphony in November.

Juliana Markova, Bulgarian pianist, made her American orchestral debut this past August with the Los Angeles Philharmonic under the direction of Zubin Mehta. This will be her first performance in the deep South.

Also making his debut with the New Orleans Symphony in 1975 will be American pianist Michael Ponti who, in a recent Tully Hall recital, responded to audience demands by playing nine encores.

Guest conductors next fall will be Kazuyoshi Akiyama, the brilliant young director of the Vancouver Symphony, the American Symphony Orchestra (NYC) and the Osaka Symphony who debuts in New Orleans in October.

Jacques Bodmer, music director of Argentina's National Symphony will also conduct a pair of New Orleans concerts in October.

"Compositions by American composers will be presented throughout the '75-'76 season," Torkanowsky said. "But we won't be neglecting compositions by the great masters of several continents and centuries either."

"Next season will certainly be a great 40th year celebration for the New Orleans Symphony as well as the 200th anniversary of the United States. The 1975-76 season will mark my own 13th year with the New Orleans Symphony and close to my 30th year as a citizen of the United States."

Further information about the 1975-76 Symphony season is available by contacting the Symphony box office.
